DR. HARROWER AND PRINCE OF WALES SAY 'HOWDY!'

Glendale Man Receives 'Bid' to 'Function'; Tells of Visit to London

Dr. Henry R. Harrower has been presented to the Prince of Wales!

H. R. H.—His Royal Highness—and H. R. H.—Henry R. Harrower—were both invited to a "function" in London, Friday morning, October 20, in honor of Albert's return from his trip around the world.

"It is to be a real function," remarked Dr. Harrower in a letter under date of October 13 to the Laboratory. "I am to go if I can find the proper clothes. I am looking around for knee breeches, silk stockings and a proper silver-handled sword! I may be stopped at the Guildhall steps."

"After the most perfect of my eight Atlantic crossings, the Majestic reached Cherbourg Friday about 5 p. m. and left a couple of hours later. In the morning very early we were at Southampton docks."

"I had no trouble with passport of baggage—luggage if you please, now—except that I was told to register at a police station as an alien because we expect to be here longer than the prescribed holiday visit which is two months."

Finds Fascination.
"There is a fascination about the old city that warms my heart. Here I worked twenty-five years ago. While the place itself is largely the same, it is very different. The houses are different—bigger and smaller than ever—the streets are smaller—that is, in comparison with streets like Broadway or Brand boulevard, for example, and the people seem ever so different, interesting."

"Even the money doesn't have the same old ring. The silver is about all gone. They now have zinc, nickel and tin-like imitations which hurt my ears when they jingle in my pockets. Then, of course, the gold sovereigns and half-sovereigns are quite gone. The five-pound notes look and crackle just as they used to, and when I walk off with five of them, I feel quite happy."

Real Taxes There.
"The streets are overrun with all sorts of motor-peanut-wagons, side cars, three-wheelers and minute auto contraptions. Spirit or petrol, otherwise "gas," is three times the price we pay and Johnny Bull penalizes motor traffic with real taxes. I would have to pay about $225 a year tax on my Paige for instance. However, they are worrying the government about changing the system of motor taxation and petrol dropped 11 cents a gallon last week."

Fail to Meet King.
The Grand Hotel on Trafalgar Square overlooking the Nelson monument was the London headquarters of the Harrower family. Among the trips taken by Dr. and Mrs. Harrower and daughter, Vera, was one past Westminster Abbey to Buckingham Palace.

"As the king had left that same morning for Norfolk," remarked Dr. Harrower, "we didn't call on him but walked on up Constitution Hill across Hyde Park and reached the Marble Arch. It was a crisp autumn afternoon and quite a contrast to New York a week before."

Tells Realty Men Business Romance

Dr. Stanley B. Wilson was the speaker yesterday noon at the meeting of the Glendale Realty Board. In speaking on modern business, Dr. Wilson said:

"Business is a true romance and an art."

The need for business education was also pointed out by the speaker, who urged the members of the board to give a thought to the subject in Glendale.

A greater share of the period yesterday noon was given over to the subject of the new multiple listing system that has been adopted. A ratification vote was taken to make the change a constitutional amendment.

Membership in the board has been raised from $10 to $25, and is also to be raised to $50 within thirty days, it is announced. The annual meeting, which was scheduled for November 3, has been changed until next Wednesday.

Color Process for Films Is Perfected

Mrs. Ella Richardson's friends will be interested in the successful progress of the motion picture syndicate featuring a special color process, in which Mrs. Richardson and Miss Jean Abel, art instructor at the high school, are interested.

For five years the syndicate people have been perfecting their process which films perfectly both color and texture. A large estate producing company has now joined with the syndicate and pictures are to be produced at the studio on Doheny drive in Hollywood.

Resignation of Max L. Green as director and member of the Glendale Motor Car Dealers' association was announced yesterday at the monthly luncheon and business meeting held by the association in the dining room of the Broadway Inn.

The automobile was badly wrecked. Motorcycle Officer Merle Collins, who went to the scene as soon as the accident had been reported at the police station, is of the opinion that it was probably caused by defective steering apparatus.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—What he declares to be a "life prolonging serum" has been discovered by Dr. William Held, noted Chicago physician, originator of the glandular cure for epilepsy, he revealed in an exclusive interview today. People die too young chiefly because, the doctor said, they have too much choline in their system. Eliminate the choline and the barrier to long life has been removed. The age of 100, even 150, would not be extraordinary in the present zippy twentieth century era if the doctor's experiments are carried out to any great extent in the future. Occasional cases of persons living to the age of Methuselah—900 odd years—would not startle the doctor.

5-STORY BUILDING TO BE ERECTED BY ROBINSON TRANSFER CO.

Break Ground on Central and Elk for Structure to Cost $40,000

The property, which is valued at $12,000, has a frontage of 50 feet on Central avenue and a depth of 80 feet on Elk street.

The corner of the first floor will be occupied by a store, 18x50 feet in size. This will be rented.

The first floor will contain the offices of the establishment. Entrance will be through an ornamental lobby. A large vault will provide a place for the safe-keeping of many valuables. There will be a specially designed packing room. The loading platform will be in the rear of the building. This will open upon large freight elevators which will connect all floors of the warehouse. The other floors will be used for storage purposes. There will be a specially arranged piano room and other rooms maintained at the proper temperature for the preservation of various kinds of household articles.

Private rooms will occupy the third floor. There will be fifty or sixty of them and people who have furniture stored in them will have access to them at their convenience.

Faith in Glendale
"We expect to have the new building ready in about four or five months," declared W. H. Robinson this morning.

The present warehouse of the Robinson Brothers Transfer and Warehouse Company at 304 South Brand boulevard was part of the estate of the late Chris Smith of 809 South Verdugo road. Mr. Robinson stated that he did not know to what use it would be put after it had been vacated.

The new building is to be erected by day labor under the supervision of Ed T. Flaherty of Los Angeles.

The capacity of the new building will be about twice that of the present warehouse. Mr. Robinson believes the construction of the new warehouse is better evidence than mere words in his faith in the future of Glendale.

Chief Fraser Says 'Rabies No Joke'

Rabies is no joke, according to Col. J. D. Fraser, chief of police, who commented this morning at the city hall upon the seriousness of the "dog situation."

"Last week several prominent people in the town were bitten by a dog," he said. "The dog was examined and found to have the rabies. As a consequence the ordinance has directed that the dog council be enforced and it has directed the police to see that it is enforced. Every dog, irrespective of whether it has a muzzle or not, is going to be picked up."

"Both of the women who were bitten are in an anxious condition. Notes of them were opposed to the nursing ordinance. The dog that bit them was a pet dog, kept in an enclosed yard. Another dog came along the street and snapped at it through the rails of the fence. That is the way it got the rabies."

"Additional men have been put on by the direction of the council. Yesterday they picked up eighteen dogs."

Assistant poundmasters now are P. McCook of 1238 East Maple street and J. P. Tucker of 744 Elmira street, Pasadena.

Dr. W. P. Burke Is Exchange Club Guest

The Glendale Exchange club had as its luncheon guest yesterday noon in the Broadway Inn, Dr. W. P. Burke, president of the Exchange club of Los Angeles.

An appeal was made by him for the members of the Exchange club of the United States to take a suitable interest in Americanization work in order that America may be made the place that many immigrants think it is before they reach Ellis Island.

"We have a very profound respect for the accomplishments of Glendale," remarked Dr. Burke. "However, you are setting a very rapid pace for yourselves and it will be a very easy matter for you to drop back in a few years if you don't keep busy. Glendale has the name of being the most aggressive community in the suburbs of Los Angeles."

Whether or not the club should go on record in regard to the divorce of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific railways was the cause of much discussion.

LOCAL LAD WINS IN HARD BATTLE

Joe Eyraud Puts Up Real Scrap; Lots of Action on Boxing Program

In a battle that was all action from the very start Joe Eyraud, the local 118-pound "find," last night won a decisive victory over Batting Chico of Hollywood in the feature bout of the weekly boxing program held at 1500 South San Fernando road. Handicapped by about eight pounds when he "gave" to his brown-skinned opponent, Eyraud faced a tough proposition and looked as though he would be knocked out by Chico's vicious lefts and rights any minute during the early part of the bout.

But the nifty little Glendale scrapper, appearing in his second match in public, stood by and weathered the first round, exchanged blows on an equal basis in the second and wore out his opponent in the final minutes. With proper care and training the miniature package of dynamite gives promise of developing into a topnotcher in his class.

Give Exhibition

In the main event Joe Kelly, boxing instructor of the Central Athletic club, outpointed Ted Southern of the Columbia Athletic club in a tame and listless match. Both men were unusually fast, Kelly being exceptionally clever in his clever footwork. But few real blows were landed during the entire four rounds.

Crowding the Eyraud-Chico tilt for action and excitement the curtain-raiser between Jack Frenchie and "Christopher" Columbus kept the fans on edge until Columbus put over the knockout wallops in the latter part of the third round. The winner weighed ten pounds less than his opponent, whose guard proved insufficient to keep the well-directed face blows from landing. In the early part of the bout, Frenchie assumed the offensive, forcing Columbus into the corners of the ring on several occasions. But each time he seemed to look better when forced up "with his back to the wall" than when fighting on even terms in the center of the ring. The final blow was a heavy blow to the chin administered after Frenchie had forced Columbus into his own corner.

Return Match Is Draw

A return match between "Kid" Sordine and Joe Burns, 110-pound midgets who fought here several weeks ago, resulted in a draw, the boys exchanging blows will during all four rounds. Sordine, although the leader from the start, was unable to wade through the long reach of his slender opponent.

In the absence of Kid Essick of this city, who was reported to be ill, Batting King of the local Modern Woodmen of America, substituted against Frankie Miller, consisting of fighting throughout most of the time, Miller receiving the decision on points.

Eight Riders Hurt In Bicycle Contest

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Eight riders competing in the six day bicycle race at the Coliseum were hurt during the sprints early today.

Alphonse Speleens, the Belgian champion, was the most seriously injured. He was taken to a hospital and it was feared his skull is fractured.

Others hurt were Bobby Waltheur, J. Oliveri, Lands Giffney, Kopsky, Fitzsimmons and Spencer.

International News Service Sports Edition

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Under rather unseemly circumstances, Jack Britton was stripped of his world's welterweight title by a young person known as Mickey Walker of Elizabeth, N. J., after fifteen questionable rounds at Madison Square Garden last night.

To the writer the fight appeared to bear an unsavory aspect. Perhaps it was quite all right. It is hoped for the sake of the boxing game in this locality that it was.

A half hour before the bout, a prominent fighter told the writer that odds had changed from 1 to 3 on Britton to 9 to 5 on Walker and that all bets would be declared off from the ringside.

The so-called wise money, it is alleged, was down at those odds. The really educated money, upon investigation, said that Britton would be knocked out in the tenth round. Perhaps it was a mere coincidence that Britton was on his hands and knees, taking a count from what appeared to be a terrible blow to the shoulder, when the bell rang, ending the round in question.

Finally the fighters' prediction was borne out in toto when Joe Humphreys bawled from the ring that "he wished to announce on behalf of the New York state athletic commission and the management of this club that all bets on this contest were hereby called off."

This was the first time any such announcement has been made from an American ring for many, many years. Just what success-

PORTLAND SQUAD MEETS OLYMPICS

Great Game Due Armistice Day at Tournament of Roses Stadium

The next football contest of note in store for southern California grid followers, and one that is likely to prove as interesting to the general public as was the California-U. S. C. clash, will be the Armistice Day game between the Multnomah Athletic club squad of Portland and the Olympic club of San Francisco. The contest, which will be staged under the auspices of the Pasadena Post of the American Legion, will take place in the new Tournament of Roses stadium which was dedicated by the Bear-Trojan warriors last Saturday. A crowd that will rival that of the opening day is expected to find its way into the picturesque Arroyo enclosure when these two great teams meet in what will decide the club championship of the entire Pacific coast.

Betting Is Even

To date betting on the game is even, backers of each squad pointing to the strong places with a confidence that makes them dig deep into their "jeans." The principal argument for a victory for the Oregonians seems to center around the superior ability of "Wild Bill" Steers, former University of Oregon backfield star and several times mentioned as an all-American performer. From all early season reports this "one-man football team" is as good, if not better, than at any time when he was playing in the Pacific coast. If this is true, then the huskies who comprise Bob Evans' San Francisco eleven are in for the time of their lives when they attempt to smear his efforts in the backfield. Steers is regarded as the best all-around backfield man ever to appear in western college uniform. Weighing close to 190 pounds and possessing a surprising amount of speed for a big man, he can buck the line, run the ends, catch or receive passes, drop kick or punt. What more could be asked of a man?

Club Line Strong

The Olympic club's punch is founded in the well-known, impressive line, which is probably the strongest in the country, and the sensational open field running of "Rabbit" Bradshaw, last year's phenom Nevada quarterback.

The forward wall will be strengthened at least forty percent over that exhibited against California two weeks ago. At that time "Cort" Majors and "Fat" Latham, former captains of the Bears' "wonder teams," were not in the lineup, having refused to endanger the chances of a defeat for their former alma mater.

With Bradshaw and Steers, barking the signals for the rival squads the fans are due for as pretty a battle as has ever been waged on a western gridiron.

Refuses to Explain Why Bets Called Off

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—"I refuse to be interviewed," was the rather testy answer of William Muldoon, chairman of the state athletic commission, today in reply to a question as to why bets on the welterweight bout between Jack Britton and Mickey Walker were declared off before the fight began.

"Last night's affair is over," he added. "It is a closed incident."

"Then there will be no investigation of the bout by the commission?"

"Absolutely none," was the heated reply.

Gene Sarazan and Jack Hutchinson are booked for an exhibition golf tour of the country at $500 for every thirty-six hole exhibition match they play. That amount split two ways would mean $250 per man for each match. There are traveling expenses, hotel bills, manager's fees and a lot of other things that enter into the final accounting so, while the boys make good money, it does not aggregate as much as one might think at first blush.

The negro, Jack Johnson, one-time champion heavyweight boxer of the world, states that he considers bull fighting a great sport. This ought to be a good argument for those who are opposed to the spectacle.

There can be no question as to the demand that exists all over the country for exhibition matches between expert professional golfers. The galleries that follow the players attest this. Golfers consider the watching of such men an inspiration. It shows them the possibilities of the game and renews the wish to improve in the game so as to get the best possible enjoyment out of it. Naturally, the more expert one is in any line of sport, or other activity for that matter, the more pleasure one takes in it.

As far as the spectator is concerned, there are few holds in wrestling that seem to give greater pain than a well applied toe hold. With the proper leverage applied, it seems as though it would be impossible for a man to continue to hold out against the twisting of his ankle. However, it is remarkable how long a man will lay around while the other fellow is mutilating his joint. The question, under the circumstances often has arisen: is not much of the facial contortion feigned, and as a matter of fact, but little pressure being brought to bear by the man with the hold. Stalling has been practiced in wrestling ere this on many occasions by its exponents.

PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

The Pacific association branch of the A. A. U. is trying out a new feature in amateur athletics which if successful will undoubtedly be followed by amateur athletic branches all over the country. The system is in reality that of government by a sports commissioner, similar to that adopted by organized baseball when it named Judge Landis to the post of dictator.

The Pacific athletic association has unwritten the venture and has engaged the services of George Davis, a well known Pacific coast newspaper man and an expert along the lines of sports promotion. His job is two-fold. He is first and foremost the executive end of amateur athletics in the district and secondly he is a promoter with full say as to the promotion of sports. The board of directors of the Pacific association believes that with proper promotion the district branch of the A. A. U. can be placed on a self-supporting footing. Davis will promote all forms of sport governed by the A. A. U. and his office is expected to make the various events pay, not only his own salary, but to show a profit to the organization.

The venture is an experiment, but it is thought that with the growing interest among the public in all lines of sport that the various A. A. U. events, such as basketball, track and field, swimming, boxing and wrestling can be made into a paying project. The experiment is not one headed to commercialize the sport from the standpoint of professional sports, but the A. A. U. officials believe that the year should produce enough results to pay the necessary expenses, show a small profit on the investment, but what is the uppermost thought in the minds of the board of governors is that the system will go a long way toward bringing the public into closer touch with amateur sports and by this a natural increase in competition will eventually result from the physical point of view.

Very few branches of the A. A. U. are wealthy enough to pay for the promotion of their sports. The Metropolitan association of the A. A. U. in New York co-operates with the A. A. U. in dividing the expense of keeping a paid secretary who is also in a measure responsible for a certain part of promotion work. The new job created in San Francisco however, gives the appointee a wide range for his executive work and a free hand in running things along A. A. U. principles.

The working of the project is bound to be watched with interest by A. A. U. branches all over the country. There does not seem to be any reason why it should not be a success, and as financial profits are not the object in view, but rather the creating of a self supporting organization the future is a matter which the appointee himself has to work out. Given proper support and the

Noted Railroad Man Found Dead In Car

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2.—T. Dewitt Cuyler, one of the foremost railway men in America and outstanding figures in the negotiations over the recent strike of railroad shopmen, was found dead in bed here today in the private car of Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania railroad. Death was due to heart failure.

Mr. Cuyler had delivered a speech in Rochester on Wednesday, coming to Philadelphia from that city. He was apparently in the best of health on retiring last night. His death was discovered when a porter went to call him this morning. The private car had been shifted to an engine in the yards of the Pennsylvania railroad. News of the famous man's death caused a sensation among the numerous railway officials located in Philadelphia. Cuyler was a resident of New York City and his body will be taken there for burial.

Scouts Play Part Safety Campaigns

There is spreading across the country at this time a great forward movement in the interest of public and personal safety, many times taking the form of municipal campaigns.

This is not a new movement in this country, but every year goes forward with increased interest and vigor, according to H. F. Benner, Glendale scout executive. Recently the large cities of St. Louis, Milwaukee, Detroit, Baltimore, Indianapolis, New York, and now Pittsburgh and many others, have staged very significant safety campaigns.

Although these campaigns are very often conducted under the auspices of safety institutes and municipal authorities and civic associations, probably no organization plays a more prominent part in them, the country over, than does the Boy Scouts of America.

Confesses to Attack On Rosalie Shanty

MUSKEGON, Mich., Nov. 2.—Raymond E. Wilson of Grand Rapids, Mich., 41 years old, confessed to the abduction and attack upon 11-year-old Rosalie Shanty, to Assistant City Prosecutor Glenn Dunn shortly before daybreak today after an all night grilling.

Wilson is a former convict, husband of a 16-year-old girl, and father of a small daughter. He is about six feet tall and weighs more than 170 pounds.

In his startling confession, Wilson said that Rosalie ran away from him, screaming in terror, at 5 p. m. last Sunday. She was not found until the following Tuesday at 6 p. m. The police were amazed to find the little girl had wandered through the pine clad forests of Northern Michigan for so many hours.

Defense Argues In Henry Wilkins Case

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—The defense had its inning today in argument to the jury which heard the evidence against Henry Wilkins, auto mechanic charged with the murder of his wife.

Attorney Frank Murphy launched into his address as soon as court convened and planned to speak all day. He was to make a strong effort to offset the excellent address of Assistant District Attorney Leo Friedman.

After speaking five hours, Friedman closed with a plea for a verdict without recommendations—the death penalty. He argued that a state had proven its case conclusively.

The MUCKER

by Edgar Rice Burroughs

Copyright 1921 by Edgar Rice Burroughs

Ordinarily Billy would have mustered about the terrible things he would do to the objects of his wrath when once he had then in his power; but now he was strangely quiet—only the firm set of his strong chin, and the steady glitter of his gray eyes gave token of the iron resolution within.

There, who had been walking slowly to and fro about the dead men, now called the others to him.

"Here's their trail," he said. "If it's as plain as that all the way we won't be long in overhauling them. Come along."

Before he had the words half out of his month the mucker was forging ahead through the jungle along the well-marked spoor of the samurai.

"What kind of men do you suppose they are?" asked Red Sanders.

"Malaysian head-hunters, unquestionably," replied Theriere.

Red Sanders shuddered inwardly. The appellation had a most gruesome sound.

"Come on!" cried Theriere, and started off after the mucker, who already was out of sight in the thick forest.

Red Sanders and Wilson took a few steps after the Frenchman. Theriere turned once to see that they were following him, and then a turn in the trail hid them from his view.

Red Sanders stopped. "Damn! If I'm going to get my own back out on any such wretched chase as this," he said to Wilson.

"The girl's more'n likely dead long ago," said the other.

"Sure she is," returned Red Sanders, "an' if we go buttin' into that there thicket we'll be dead too. Ugh! Poor Miller. Poor Svenson. It's awful. Did you see what they done to 'em beside cuttin' off their heads?"

"Yes," whispered Wilson, looking suddenly behind him.

Red Sanders gave a little start, peering in the direction that his companion had looked.

"What was it?" he whispered. "What did you do that for?"

"I thought I seen something move there," replied Wilson. "For Gawd's sake let's get outen this."

And without waiting for a word of assent from his companion the fellow turned and ran breakneck speed along the little path toward the spot where Divine, Blanco and Bony Sawyer were stationed.

When they arrived Bony was just on the point of setting out for the spring to fetch water, but at sight of the frightened, breathless men he returned to hear their story.

"What's up?" shouted Divine. "You men look as though you'd seen a ghost. Where are the others?"

"They're all murdered, and their heads cut off," cried Red Sanders. "We found the bunch that got Miller, Svenson, and the girl. They'd killed 'em all and was eatin' of 'em when we jumps 'em. Before we knew wot had happened about a thousand more of the devils came runnin' up. They got us separated, and when we seen Theriere and Byrne kill we just natch'rally beat it. Gawd, it was awful."

"Do you think they will follow you?" asked Divine.

At the suggestion every head turned toward the trail down which the two panic-stricken men had just come. At the same moment a hoarse shout arose from the cove below and the five looked down to see a scene of wild activity upon the beach. The defection of Theriere's party had been discovered, as well as the absence of the girl and the theft of the provisions.

Skipper Simms was dancing about like a madman. His belated oaths rolled up the cliffs like thunder. Presently Ward caught a glimpse of the men at the top of the cliff above him.

"There they are!" he cried. Skipper Simms looked up.

"The swabs," he shrieked. "A stealin' of our grub, an' abductin' that there pore girl. The swabs! Lemme to 'em, I say; just lemme to 'em."

"We'd all better go to 'em," said Ward. "We've got a fight on here, sure. Gather up some rocks men, an' come along. Skipper, you're too fat to do any fightin' on that there hillside, so you better stay here an' let one of the men take your gun."

Ward knew so well the mettle of his superior that he much preferred his absence to his presence in the face of real fighting, and with the gun in the hands of a braver man it would be vastly more effective.

Ward himself was no lover of a fight, but he saw now that starvation might stare them in the face with their food gone; and everything he lost with the loss of the girl. For food and money a much more cowardly man than Bender Ward would fight to the death.

Up the face of the cliff they hurried, expecting momentarily to be either challenged or fired upon by those above them. Divine and his party looked down with mixed emotions upon those who were ascending in so threatening a manner. They found themselves truly between the devil and the deep sea.

Ward and his men were half-way up the cliff, yet Divine had made no move to repel them. He glanced timorously toward the dark forest behind from which he momentarily expected to see the savage, snarling faces of the head-hunters appear.

"Surrender! You swabs," called Ward from below, "or we'll string the last mother's son of you to the yardarm."

For reply Blanco hurled a heavy fragment of rock at the assailants. It grazed perilously close to Ward, against whom Blanco cherished a keen hatred. Instantly Ward's revolver barked, the bullet whistling close by Divine's head. L. Cortwright Divine, cotton leader, ducked behind Theriere's breastwork, where he lay sprawled upon his belly, trembling in terror.

Woman's Page

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

FURNISHING HOUSEHOLD OIL

A friend of mine has four small children of whom, the oldest is nine and the youngest two.

With her lives her mother, a woman of about 80, and her husband's cousin.

Now, this woman's husband is willing she should have a servant in the house but she prefers not to.

Why?

Not on account of expense, for when she reckoned up what she was paying to have a woman come in and clean and to have the laundry put out, she found it totalled about $12.

Not on account of space, she has room enough for her lives in a big old-fashioned house.

But just for this reason. She dreads the adding of one more personality to her household. An alien personality that will inevitably involve a certain amount of friction, of adjusting, of harmonizing.

She is the Adjustment Bureau.

"All that," she says, "will come on me, of course, and I do enough of it now. Everyone tries to help but I have to be the Adjustment Bureau for all complaints and misunderstandings and collisions. I have to see that the children don't wake Cousin John too early in the morning, and that mother doesn't fall asleep in the living room and bother my husband by snoring when he is having his after dinner cigar; and that everybody gets their share of the bathroom, and all that sort of thing. If there were another person in the house to keep happy and satisfied and out of the others' way, I think I would go crazy! I'd rather do the extra work myself."

Book Reviews

"The Life and Letters of Walter H. Page" is the title under which Doubleday, Page & Co. have just published Ambassador Walter Hines Page's biography and letters, upon which Burton J. Hendrick has been engaged for the past two years. Many of these letters contained therein have never before been published.

Walter Page's five years in London are said to form one of the most important diplomatic missions of the United States—perhaps the most important. These letters are valuable not only for the light which they shed upon the foreign policy of the Wilson administration; they give a picture of England under the stress of war which such English journals as the "Spectator" and the "London Times" have already accepted as a classic. The portraits drawn of such men as Sir Edward Grey, Arthur J. Balfour, Lloyd George and Lord Robert Cecil, give constant vitality to the ambassador's pages.

But, the book is more than a war story, it is the biography on one of the most interesting Americans of his time, and a picture of

COUPLE TAKE HOBO HONEYMOON

A husbandless honeymoon did not appeal to pretty Virginia Stoffer, so when her husband, Jim Stoffer, 20 years old, whom she had taken for better or for worse, in Los Angeles, started for Detroit to learn a trade, Virginia went along. That was last August, and just the other day they arrived in Chicago after having ridden the rods from the coast city, having kept faith with each other and lived the life of hoboes.

BEAUTY CHATS

AN OLD-FASHIONED TREATMENT

An English physician of great reputation in the treatment of blood and skin diseases tells me that he advises practically all his patients to take yeast.

"It is a good old-fashioned remedy which has been sadly neglected by medical men in recent years," he said. "My father, who was also a physician, used to send his patients to get fresh yeast at a small brewery which at that time was near his home. He had a special arrangement with them so his patients could purchase small amounts and always get it fresh. I have been trying the yeast treatment successfully with a number of my patients suffering from boils, carbuncles and the various skin eruptions due to blood impurities. But the brewery has gone and brewers' yeast is purchased in neat little tablets at the chemists' shops. A bottle full lasts several days or weeks, I prefer the old method of buying a little fresh each day."

Years ago the English medical profession thought highly of the yeast treatment. Today some of the doctors are beginning to revive it. In America the use of yeast, except for baking and brewing almost died out until several western doctors and one or two eastern hospitals began to take it up again.

I have been crusading for it for

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.
Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

A LITTLE BACTERIOLOGY

You put yeast germs in your bread dough. The dough rises. Would you say the yeast was not the cause of the rising but was the effect? You want to make some fermented milk. You put a tablet of lactic acid bacteria in the milk. The milk ferments. Would you say that the lactic acid germs were not the cause of the fermenting but the effect? You have a violent inflammation from contact with poison ivy. Would you say the poison ivy was not the cause of the inflammation but the effect? No.

You would not say anything so foolish. And you wonder why I am asking such absurd questions. Why do I do it? For this reason: To emphasize that it is equally as absurd to say that bacteria are not the cause of certain diseases but the effect of those diseases.

This statement is put forth ever so often by near doctors, i. e., persons who have the title of doctor given them by some institution which requires no preliminary education as an entrance. Of course, these so-called doctors have never studied the science of bacteriology or any other science. Apparently, how much value can you place upon statements they make on these subjects which they have never studied?

Because you cannot see electricity, you do not deny its existence, do you. You cannot see wave lengths. But the radio has taught you that they exist even though you did not know it before.

Bacteria (germs or microbes or micro-organisms or bacilli—all mean, the same) are plants so tiny that you cannot see them without the aid of powerful microscopes. Eight million could be crowded into the head of a pin. But they exist just as truly as do cabbages and parsnips. And as truly as there are poisonous ones among the vegetables that you can see, so there are those that are poisonous among these microscopic plants.

Fortunately the germs that are beneficial to the world outnumber those that are harmful many, many times, and if it were not for these beneficial germs all life

..FUN..

THAT'S DIFFERENT

"Why in the sacred name of John Burroughs are you patting those dod-busted, ding-basted old things there?" roared the enraged lieutenant as he came into the officers' mess hall and discovered the company dog robber placing a canteen cup full of flowers on the table.

"Think this is a dog-gone female seminary? Know there's a war going on? Think we're a bunch of boarding school girls, you iron-headed idiot? Who told you to put those there?"

"The captain, sir."

"Pretty, aren't they?"

MUST BE LENIENT

Freddy and Paul were much put out because Marjorie could not play their strenuous games adequately.

"Girls are no account anyway," exclaimed Paul in disgust. "I never saw such a bunch."

"Oh, I don't know," Freddy countered gallantly. "Girls must be good for something."

"Well, I don't know what it is then," Paul insisted. "If they're good for anything I never heard of it. And anyway, why should you stick up for them?"

"Well," replied the chivalrous Freddy, "we ought to go easy on them. Half or our parents are women."

Place three tablespoons fat in frying pan, and when hot add the oysters. Brown nicely on each side three minutes. Serve very hot on hot platter. Garnish with parsley.

Cabbage Salad—Put two cups of finely cut cabbage in mixing bowl, add one green pepper, cut fine, one canned pimiento, cut fine and pour over a French dressing, to which has been added one-fourth teaspoon celery salt, one-eighth teaspoon dry mustard and one tablespoon sugar. This salad is particularly good served with oysters.

Mush Bread—Heat two cups milk to the scalding point in the double boiler; stir in, gradually, while stirring constantly, one cup corn meal. Cover, and cook slowly twenty-five minutes. Remove

THEATRES

The Glendale

According to the venerable Noah Webster, there is no such animal as "The Jinx." At the Glendale theatre, however, one can be entertained by "The Ladder Jinx," which is the story of a man who was not superstitious, and a girl who was; trouble followed them both.

He walked under a ladder and in order to please his sweetheart tried to kill the jinx and nearly landed in jail. The story proves that there is comedy, romance and near tragedy in American business.

In addition to this feature the Glendale theatre management is presenting Larry Semon in his popular comedy "Golf."

The T. D. & L.

The last performances of the great American classic, "The Old Homestead," with Theodore Roberts and all star cast will be given tonight at the T. D. & L. theatre.

More than 4000 Glendaleans have seen it and are unanimous in the opinion that it is one of the best shows Glendale has had in a year.

Manager Ralph Allan says, "If you have not seen 'The Old Homestead' with all its joys, happiness, thrills, pathos, heart throbs and laughter you have but one opportunity left to do so tonight."

There are 2,089 bunks on Ellis Island provided with two blankets apiece.

The man who fought our battle in congress for War Prohibition, when tons of food were conserved for real need instead of made into intoxicating drink. A real champion of the people, whose ability and courage are now needed in congress. Opposed by the bootleggers, ex-saloon men and corrupt politicians. Hear him tonight. Help roll up a large vote on Tuesday. Sextette of singers. Also that splendid speaker, Oliver W. Stewart.

Big Business Will Pay Lagging Taxes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Large corporations in the United States will supply the major portion of back tax collections which the government is relying upon to materially reduce the national deficit this year, it was stated at the treasury department today.

Treasury officials said that, according to reports, these collections will run into "six and seven figures."

Paving In Garden Added Attraction

The first use of paving is, of course, to provide a dry and firm footway in the garden. If it fails to do this at all times within reason, the garden is better off without it. Again, if it fails to add to the attractiveness of the garden, it is a sad superfluity. Thus, on the one hand, it should furnish stability and comfort, and on the other, beauty of color and texture and design and treatment. Paving may also provide an indelible outline of the garden's interior design. This it will do quite naturally, if it follows the paths and skirts the edges of the open spaces. The practical advantages that lie with this sort of a paving scheme must be obvious to the garden amateur. Such an arrangement does away with the necessity for remaining on the edges of the herbaceous beds and provides a dry approach to all the perennials after showers and on dewy mornings.

The artist in us sees in paving an opportunity for such added beauty in the garden that the difficulty comes in not overdoing it. We must remember that, while the paving should have individuality, it should at the same time, harmonize with the rest of the garden. If it is necessary that we use materials whose coloring makes the paving stand out too boldly in relief, such as some of the brighter colored tiles or bricks or flagstones, we should allow nature to cover them with mossy growths and not be too meticulous in our efforts to keep them clean. We should refrain, also, from covering too much of the open surface of the garden with paving. If there are paths that are more than say 5 or 6 feet in width, it would be better, in most cases, to run a strip of paving along the edges rather than try to cover them completely. The same rule should apply to any broad open areas in the garden, remembering that the color of paving is an object, will be determined for us by the sort that is the most readily available. If we long for the green, blue and purple states of Vermont, but live in Maryland, where the only local slate is dull and colorless, and are unable to go to the expense of importing the New England variety, we may find some comfort in the fact that there is a great deal more art and ingenuity in making use of a material at hand than in going outside our own locality for one that is frankly foreign, however lovely it may be. Nor should we let the style of the garden or the dominating architecture determine to too great an extent our paving material. Any material, whether it is stone, brick, tile or concrete, made to fit any given situation, if it is in the hands of some one who is able to handle it sympathetically and intelligently. However, stone is generally the most preferable material, as it harmonizes more readily than any other, both in color and texture, with the bloom and foliage of the garden. Where a suitable stone is not obtainable or where the preference lies with brick, the latter will be found to be susceptible to various interesting and delightful treatments. The same may be said of tiles, of which there is a great variety both in size and color.

War Secretary Weeks Hurt In Auto Crash

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Nov. 2.—Secretary of War Weeks was shaken up and slightly injured today, it was learned today, when the automobile in which he was riding last night collided with another machine. With Secretary Weeks when the accident occurred were State Senator George Chamberlain and other associates.

Secretary Weeks kept a speaking engagement here and continued his tour for the election of Senator Lodge and Governor Cox.

Washington Claims Most Ancient Mule

WALLA WALLA, Wash.—The state of Washington claims the oldest mule living. She brays to the name of "Jessie," and, according to the closest reckoning possible, she is at least thirty-three years old.

"Jessie" was brought to the Walla Walla Valley in 1893 by the federal government, where she was used as one of a team of six to haul freight from the city of Walla Walla to Fort Walla Walla. She served within a year of three terms of army enlistment, being "honorably discharged" from the army service when Fort Walla Walla was abandoned as a military post in 1910.

The remainder of her years she has spent at the state penitentiary here, but not as a "prisoner." She hauls a dumpcart, driven by a negro trusty.

It is figured that since the federal government never buys a mule under four years of age, "Jessie" cannot have lived less than 33 summers.

Doors Are Important Part of Your Home

What would be left of dignity, peace and comfort in life if some malicious little fairy were to wave a wand that caused all the doors in all our homes suddenly to disappear? Can one picture this desolate doorless world, every sound, motion and odor shared by the entire household, and all caravans and joys public property? The very elements of the most exquisite phases of modern civilization would promptly disintegrate.

No wonder that all truly great period architects specialized on the door, so much so that it was frequently the very center of ornamentation of the entire facade of cathedral or palace; or that it was the one note of elaborate decoration for otherwise plain public buildings and dwellings.

So important did doors become after we advanced from caves and tents, both indoors and out, that the magnificence of interior decoration, the most gorgeous carving and painting, the most imposing frescoes centered about the doorway. This is true in Italian palaces of the Renaissance, where the most elegant of classic interiors were developed, styles that were land and Spain; it was true in afterward copied in France, England, French period architecture, especially in the time of the Louis and the Empire. As for England, the glory of her doors in the Elizabethan and later in the Adam period was only equalled by the sumptuous fireplaces that ran from floor to ceiling, the surpassing decoration of the stairways, which were carved and sculptured and painted from the great banquetting rooms to the roof of the houses.

But with all the beauty and splendor of stairways and fireplaces, somehow the doors of a house seem the most fundamental detail, the first aid, as it were, to civilization. And because of this, the idea of the door and what it stands for has crept into the literature of practically all countries. Shakespeare used it over and over again. An idea of size he explains as "Not so deep as a well, nor so wide as a church door, but 'tis enough, 'twill serve." The very interior of the house from cellar to garret we now speak of as indoors; while all of nature, two hemispheres and both of the eighty oceans are merely out-of-doors. A more widespread symbol than the door has perhaps never entered the language of any race or people.

It is quite characteristic of our modern architecture in America that the interior door especially is greatly simplified. There are so many of us in this country who want homes and who think if a house "were done, it were 'twere well done quickly" that we do not stop to have great doors with figures of East Indian rajahs carved for our living rooms, nor can we wait to have beautiful doors painted with fine landscapes or picturesque figures. We cannot even have elaborate paneled doors with carved frames, nor fluted columns as in the Italian Renaissance—that is, in the main, we cannot do these things.

Most of us plan our houses in February, argue with our architects through March and April and have spirited conferences with our builders through the summer months, expecting to have homes charmingly furnished by October, ready for the children to approve before they go away to school. This does not mean that our houses are not practical in every detail, eminently well fitted so far as heating, lighting and plumbing are concerned, with luxurious details, fine open fires, sun rooms, sleeping porches, everything that means a country home today. But the fine arts are not always deeply involved in our plans, and when the architect says we must get standard doors and window frames and the builder nods approvingly, we are very likely to do it because it saves time and money and mental energy.

Undoubtedly many of our finest architects will disagree with this and they will show you pictures of beautiful doors in fine American homes, brought from old English manor houses, from French chateaux, and doors designed in this country that have dignity and magnificence.

Harding Celebrates Double Birthdays

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—President Harding celebrated two birthdays today, one as Warren G. Harding, the other as President of the United States. Fifty-seven years ago today Mr. Harding was born in Morrow county, Ohio. Two years ago today he was elected president of the United States by the greatest majority in history.

Congratulatory messages poured into the White House today in an endless stream. They came from all parts of the country and many from abroad.

No special celebration was held at the executive mansion. The President planned to spend most of the day at his desk and in Mrs. Harding's sickroom.

Wonderful Prosperity Predicted for U. S.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—"The United States has emerged from its darkest day of depression and is entering upon a period of wonderful, normal prosperity, lasting four or five years—the like of which none of us has ever seen," E. J. Henning, assistant secretary of labor, declared here today.

He asserted that in July, 1921, there were 5,500,000 wage earners without employment. Jobs have been found for all these, he said, and in addition 50,000 more places are awaiting men—but the men are not available.

Asked for his view on a "living wage," he declared, "the most expensive labor in the world is slave labor. The next most expensive labor is the ignorant and unmotivated workers. The American wage earner is the highest paid and yet the cheapest labor in the world."

Secretary Henning said the standard was not only a "living wage" but a "saving wage"—a sum sufficient "so the laborer can save a little and enjoy the sweet experience of ownership."

CENTRAL P. T. A. OF EAGLE ROCK HAS RECORD MEET

Committees Approve Plans to Improve Bungalow for School Kiddies

Perhaps the largest and certainly one of the most enthusiastic meetings ever held by the Eagle Rock Central P. T. A., was held Wednesday afternoon. Owing to the fact that the president, Mrs. Anne Harrison, had been in quarantine this was the first meeting at which she presided. There was an unusual amount of important business to come before the members for final consideration.

The most important item was whether or not the P. T. A. would undertake the fitting up of a new place for the school cafeteria and some place in which the children may eat their lunches. It was explained that on account of the growth of the school that the present school kitchen is needed for Domestic Science classes and that owing to state laws, the school board cannot fit up a place for a P. T. A. cafeteria.

Give Approval.
The membership present voted their approval and the committee of which Mrs. W. H. Dorrance is chairman was instructed to proceed with the work.

The committee plans to fit up a little vacant bungalow, which now stands just back of the present cafeteria, as a kitchen. Two wings, one for a boys' dining room and one for a girls' dining room, will be added.

Another matter to claim the attention of the members was a request from Mrs. Essie Koen, the recreation committee chairman, for the consent of the P. T. A. to conduct nickel dances in the kindergarten on Saturday nights. Many mothers present urged the P. T. A. to allow this as it was one way to be sure that the young folks would be properly chaperoned. The unanimous vote in favor of this motion showed the mothers present were glad of this new feature of the work of the recreation committee. Mrs. Claude Williams will be in charge of these dances.

Report on Festival.
The recreation committee chairman also gave a report of the Harvest Home Festival. The report showed about $400 in money and fruit were cleared. Some of the money was invested in strings of lights for the grounds, some divided with the East and West schools and $100 set aside as a nucleus for a swimming pool for the children of Eagle Rock.

A committee was appointed of which Mrs. Reiter was chairman, to investigate the proposition made by Wesley Roberts, that he would give several acres to E. R. City already fitted as a park with swimming pool if only the city would build a road to it. These acres lie under the big reservoir next to Glendale in Sagamore Park.

The children gave a most interesting program consisting of the school orchestra, singing by the girls' glee club, a song by the three-B, a recitation by Bobby Allen; original talks by Cyril Reynolds and Maitland Dirks, and recitations by Howard Man and Dorothy Wolf.

Maitland Dirks introduced the numbers on the program which ended with a vocal quartette by four teachers, Mrs. Reed, Mrs. Bristol, Miss Johns and Mr. Harwood. The last half of the program was a four reel picture, "How Life Begins." Tea and wafers were served in the lobby.

BUSINESS MAKING STEADY STRIDES

Federal Reserve Board Says
Conditions Much Improved
Throughout Country

By WILLIAM HUTCHINSON
For International News Service.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Economic and general business conditions made great strides forward during October, it was shown by reports made public today by the federal reserve board, supplemented by a statement from the American Railway association showing railroad activities to have reached during October nearly the highest peak ever recorded.

The sensational improvement in general industry activity and sharp increase in the marketing of agricultural products were noted by the railroads. Loading of revenue freight in the week ending October 21 smashed all weekly records for the two past years. During this seven-day period the total freight loaded passed the million car mark for the first time since October 27, 1920.

The total of 1,093,759 cars loaded from October 15-21 was within 14,789 cars of the highest mark ever achieved and has been exceeded only four times in the history of American railroads, the association said.

Gas Consumption in U. S. Is on Increase

NEW YORK.—Sales of manufactured gas last year touched the record volume of $26,000,000,000 cubic feet, an increase of 7,000,000,000 feet over 1920, and 20,000,000,000 feet over 1919, according to the third annual survey of the gas utilities of the United States just completed by the American Gas Association. An analysis of the per capita consumption of gas for the last twenty years shows that the per capita increase for the ten-year period of 1911 to 1921 was 30 per cent, while for the period of 1911 to 1921 it was 80 per cent.

Next to the month of April, the month of October was the busiest month in the building line in Glendale, according to figures gathered at the city hall.

The month of April went over the million dollar mark. The month of October provided a total of $675,430. October's total exceeds that of September by $27,715 and is nearly twice as much as the total for either May, June, July or August.

LOS ANGELES IS FOURTH IN RANK

Takes Position for Month of September; Many Coast
Cities Stand High

Los Angeles ranked fourth among the cities of the United States in building for the month of September, 1922. Chicago was second with a total two million greater than that of Los Angeles, and Philadelphia landed in third place by a margin of a million and a half. Detroit was only about a quarter of a million behind Los Angeles and Cleveland was sixth with something over six and three-quarter millions. With the exception of Pittsburgh no other city registered over five millions. San Francisco was eleventh in the list. Portland, Oakland, Seattle, San Diego and Long Beach were the other Pacific Coast cities in the million dollar class.

Building operations for September, 1922, in 193 cities showed a recession compared with the preceding month, but a gain of 34 per cent compared with September, 1921. The total number of permits issued was 57,525, and the estimated valuation $205,780,795. The same cities reported 50,733 permits with an estimated valuation of $152,867,082 for September, 1921.

L. A. COUNTY IS FIRST IN WEALTH

Leads in All State; This Shown by Figures of Various Assessors

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2.—According to official figures compiled by the state controller's department, Los Angeles is the one "billion dollar county" in the state, it having reached the staggering sum of $1,573,418,167 in valuation of its assessed real and personal property.

There is no hazard or guess on these figures which give Los Angeles so dominant a place in the leadership in the state. They are collated from the official reports of the assessors and auditors of the fifty-eight counties of California, from the records of the state railroad commission and from other sources of an official nature.

The principal item of wealth comes from land valuation, a total of 1,233,233 acres being assessed for $648,214,585 under this heading. Other values on real estate, $358,560,840; personal property, $244,343,104; railroads, $33,379,531, with other minor totals under the headings of money and solvent credits and items of lesser importance.

Huge Total Reported
The huge total reported gives Los Angeles more than 30 per cent of the total wealth of the state, and almost double that of San Francisco, the second county on the list, which shows a valuation of $858,662,426.

Another item in the report which will attract the attention of the taxpayer is that Los Angeles county with an inside tax rate of $1.31 and an outside rate of $1.81, enjoys lesser taxation than any other of the larger counties and is only equalled in this respect by five of the smaller of the fifty-eight counties.

Further outstanding in the figures from the controller's office is the report in county indebtedness, which shows only $2,054,000 in funded debt and $907,329 in floating indebtedness, a total of $3,061,329, an item so infinitesimal in comparison with the total wealth as to place the credit of the county on as high a plane as that enjoyed by any like political subdivision in the United States.

Walls Have to Be Properly Prepared

For interior painting, especially where water colors are used, the method of procedure of each different manufacturer must be carefully studied. Walls must be properly prepared according to schedule and the suggestions for putting on fresco colors must be followed without the slightest deviation if interesting results are to be achieved. Practically all makers of fresco colors will send pamphlets on request and these pamphlets invariably show a large range of color samples. Just the right method for ordering these paints is also given so that the work of planning house decoration along these lines is reduced to a minimum. The expense of decorating in this fashion is light and the effect most satisfactory if instructions are carefully followed.

There are four steps in the process of securing brilliantly finished woodwork—preparing the wood, filling it, staining it, and varnishing it. Whether the floor is new or old, it must be perfectly clean, free from oil, grease, wax or moisture.

The money cost of the world war, according to Lloyd George, was $223,471,000,000.

HEAVY BUILDING ACTIVITIES IN MANY COAST CITIES, SAYS STATE REALTY PAPER EDITOR

Never Better Buys Than at Present, Belief of Glenn D. Willamman; Rapid and Steady
Population Gains Prove Great Help

"California cities report heavy building activities. This is noticeably true of Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland, Long Beach, Glendale, Pasadena, Fresno, Sacramento, San Diego and other important centers," says Glenn D. Willamman, editor of California Realty Estate, the official organ of the realtors of California. "Before the new year comes in, it is safe to estimate that upward of $200,000,000 will have been invested in California building for the year. This is the most remarkable record in the history of any western state. And there can be no doubt but that a good proportion of this new building was stimulated by our state association's Own Your Home campaign of last spring. Its good effects are still being noted in our daily news clipping service, and many of the papers are running full page ads as a result of that drive and the proclamation which Governor Stephens issued at the invitation of our association.

"However, the greatest stimulus to California building, both for housing and for business and industry, lies in the ever increasing number of people who are coming here to make their homes. It is gratifying, indeed, to note that the great majority of the building permits are for homes, with the percentage of home owners steadily rising, and also that our people are responding to the thrift appeal by investing more and more of their savings in homes. Still there are far too few homes to meet the general demand, and if California is to be ready to house the coming home seekers, we must build new homes at a rate of not less than 50,000 to 100,000 annually, and the building must keep up steadily.

Never Better Than Now
"Real estate was never a better investment than right now. Realty is the most precious thing on earth. It is the one sure asset that will justify investment at all times. Even though the rate of return is not as large as the promoters picture will flow from their 'oil units,' yet staple real estate will most surely reward its owner in the long run. And if you are up to the situation in California you will be looking now for your wise and timely investment in real estate.

Dyed Rags Used to Make Room Prettier

Since we have found that we can make curtains of anything from gingham to oilcloth—that we can cover lampshades with paper or satin with equally good effect—why not make some rugs? Rugs dyed in different shades may be purchased at a reasonable price and crocheted and braided. These are charming in certain rooms. Hooked rugs are good looking and quaint. Felt rugs are easily made and may have any motif that is used in decorating the furniture and curtains. Large oval or oblong oilcloth rugs may be made by using the oilcloth on each side with an interlining of flannelet. Gray may be used on one side and tan on the other. The rugs are then reversible. They may be stitched on the machine in an old-fashioned quilt pattern and if they are kept flat on the floor will give as good service as the popular oilcloth dollies. The rugs should be bound around the edge with bias seam bindings.

BANKS IN STATE MAKE BIG GAIN

Increase in Assets in Past
Year Total $161,903,805,
Official's Report

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—Banks operating under the laws of the State of California increased their wealth enormously during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1922, according to the annual report of Jonathan S. Dodge, superintendent of banks, made public here.

"The year in its brighter aspects was constructive, and not simply conservative, taking the form of larger banking accommodations, easier money and better prospects of business and economic development," Mr. Dodge's report said.

"Our savings have increased. Liquidation of our frozen loans has been rapid, there has been more capital available for investment, established industries have received more substantial support and the needs of trade have been better supplied.

Would Shift Stream
"The shifting of the stream of gold from extravagance, and luxurious buys into the laudable investment in real estate and homes calls to mind also another urgent demand of the realtors of America, and in this situation they have the support of the president of the United States and the secretary of the treasury—a timely protest against limitless issuing of tax-exempt securities. If we are to remain a prosperous nation, with the burdens of taxation equitably levied, then the government, both state and national, must sooner or later take steps to curb the enormous drainage of money investment funds into tax-free paper. Real estate bodies are leading the nation in this fight to curtail the savings of the nation by diverting them to disproportionately in tax-exempt securities. Nothing would be better for our nation's prosperity than that its savings be made available for timely reinvestment in the things that make for national security and nation-wide prosperity—expansion of industry, continued building, development of real estate, and financing the business enterprise that contributes to the employment and prosperity of our people."

"The banking power of our state is greater now than ever in its history. The assets of our banks aggregate more than $1,657,940,000, an increase during the year of $161,903,805. At the close of the fiscal year of 1922 California was fifth in the United States exceeded only by New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Massachusetts, in the aggregate of resources in banks operating under state jurisdiction.

"The greatest service of state banks is in the accumulation and investment of the people's savings, Mr. Dodge said. "An enormous amount of the savings has been invested in government, state and municipal bonds and bonds of other political subdivisions of the state and Union."

"California is going forward," Mr. Dodge added. "We are in the midst of greater and more abnormally diversified production. We are receiving fair prices for our products, and the period of readjustment, is no longer a problem. Our speculative loans are disappearing; they are being liquidated and we are giving to our farmers through our banks what they need for their seasonal purposes and for the development of their best economic expression."

Character Is Formed Through Home Life

The home is recognized as the human unit, and all reasonable expenditure, all effort and devotion should loyally be concentrated on making it worthy of every good instinct, every justifiable form of family pride. It is the daily surroundings which mould the child character, and unconsciously the home is the making of forces, and tastes of the little one.

Harmony, high ideals, and beauty, in their simplest forms, influence character, manners, and ideals, and the sincerity and worth of the thing on every hand are the guiding stars which will make the youngster, growing up in these surroundings, a citizen who will be an asset to the community, carrying on such a home himself, in later years, or a liability without sense of responsibility or capacity for service.

A man is rich in proportion to the number of things he can afford to let alone.

HONOLULU, T. H.—For the first time in the history of the Territory of Hawaii a Japanese is seeking nomination for a position in the territorial government. James T. Hamanda, American citizen, of Japanese ancestry, has filed his nomination papers as a candidate for the house of representatives.

Freeland at 608 West Wilson, which was begun October 23 and is now ready for plastering. Framing is ready for inspection. ## Plate Glass Proves Useful About House

Although many people prefer sheeting, plate glass has a real vogue in the shower bath cabinet door. It looks regal and is so annealed as to be strong enough to stand up against steam and banging.

Plate glass, of course, can be used entirely for the shower bath cabinet or can be used for a folding set of leaves, which, after the bath, can be folded against the wall and be out of the way.

Furthermore, in the bathroom glass shelves and mirrors of good quality and thickness add to the beauty and comfort of the room. Fancy a bathroom without a plate glass mirror?

The office desk glass is known by every office worker, yet you rarely see it in the home. It is useful, however, to have the desk at home covered by glass—the ink can spill with impunity, you can keep memos under the glass, you can put your cigar down without fear of conflagration and you can protect the desk top.

The dressing table covered with plate glass is a thing of duty and of use forever. Think of being able to spill powder, pomades and hair tonic on the table without ever soiling the lace or silk cover and without spilling the hand-some wood! Think, too, of being able to put the hot hair waver down and know that it is safe to do so!

The dresser with a plate glass sheath is well preserved and the handsome cover needs no washings. Another saving.

The dining room table covered with plate glass saves the table against the ravages of heat and the purse from the ravages of the laundry. Although you may think it too cool for winter use, as a summer idea it is unmatched.

The serving table, upon which is placed hot dishes of every kind, will not only last longer coated with handsome glass but will mean less work for the cabinet maker, maid and cook.

Mirrors of common glass have no decorative value, but mirrors of plate glass beveled are not only true photographs but handsome adjuncts to the room in which they happen to be placed. Mirrors of plate glass can be put in all types of frames.

The cheval or full length mirror in plate glass is almost a noble bit of decoration, to say nothing of its usefulness in affording a full-length view.

Have you ever noticed a house where plate glass is used in its doors and windows? It has a richness and brilliancy of color and finish that nothing else can give. In fact, poor glass makes the finest home look "cheap."

Printed Linens

Belfast linen is now brought to this country and is finished in Chinese Chippendale designs of great beauty by a process of hand-painting. Such linens make luxurious drapes and upholstery in a room to which they are adapted.

ASSESSOR GIVES FACTS ON TAXES

Necessary to Boost Valuations Materially, Is Claim; Figures in Detail

In view of the fact that the following contains figures of interest relative to the recent growth of Glendale, it is reproduced here, with from The Glendale Evening News of November 1:

Ed W. Hopkins, assessor of Los Angeles county, in a communication to The Glendale Evening News, calls attention to an article printed under date of October 21, relative to a short analysis of the revenue raised by taxation in this city. In his letter, Mr. Hopkins says:

"I am enclosing you herewith figures relative to taxes in Glendale taken from the official records: "

"In the first place the assessment of Glendale was increased this year very materially over previous years. In fact, it was necessary to do so owing to the rapid and phenomenal increase in values in Glendale. It would be absurd for the assessor to carry for 1922 the same assessments established several years prior to this year. For several years past the values have doubled and more than doubled over the values of three to five years ago.

What It Produced
"Speaking of Glendale as a whole, not going into details as to the different annexes, the assessed valuation for 1922 was $21,981,560 against the previous assessment of $12,477,675. Comparing the assessment and tax rates for 1921 with 1922 produces the following results:

"As I said before the 1921 city assessment was $12,477,675. The tax rate for municipal purposes as established by the trustees was $1.30 per $100 which produced $161,470.55. In 1922 the assessment is $21,981,560 with a tax rate as established by the trustees of $1.55 per $100. Assessed value producing for city purposes $338,674.23 as against $161,470.55 for 1921.

"The school rate for Glendale City district within Glendale city for 1921 produced $264,814.57, for 1922, $478,921.80, making an increase in revenue for 1922 for municipal purposes and schools by direct taxation of $390,410.91.

County Revenues
"For county and flood purposes the county rate produced in 1921 on the same valuation on which city taxes were levied, $95,286.67; in 1922, $180,898.64, an increase for county and flood control purposes of $85,611.97.
"To recapitulate there was raised by taxation in the City of Glendale in 1921 for all purposes $521,561.79; in 1922, $997,574.67, of which $816,696.03 or 81.45 per cent is for municipal and school purposes, and $180,898.64 or 18.15 per cent for county and flood control purposes."

ROLAND SQUARE STEADILY GROWS

J. R. Grey Realty Company Makes Report on Many Recent Improvements

One of the greatest changes that have been made in any subdivision recently has been the transformation of Roland Square, the close-in tract lying between Doran street and Patterson avenue just west of Kenilworth, recently opened by the J. R. Grey Realty company of 124 North Brand.

It is pleasing to note that all the improvements that were promised by this company have been accomplished—the sidewalks and curbs are all laid, the water in the streets graded and will be paved just as soon as the gas mains are laid, which improvements have been promised for this week. Frequently these improvements are prolonged and delayed beyond reason, but in this case they were installed with a rapidity commendable to all concerned.

Several old buildings that were on the tract for a number of years have been removed, and the section has now the appearance of a real high-class subdivision, and builders and contractors who were fortunate enough to purchase in this tract have begun to erect homes there that will be a credit not only to that section but to the whole city as well.

Four New Houses
Nathan Rigdon has commenced the erection of four houses of the type that he is famed for, and will proceed with the work of the other eight that he is going to build just as fast as he can get to them, or, to be more exact, before he gets these four completed. Martin Nelson is constructing three bungalows of the $7000 class, and a number of private individuals are now having the plans drawn for homes that they will erect immediately.

An $8000 building will be constructed on Roland Square at the corner of Fairmont and Kenilworth by W. J. Hogan, who recently purchased there from the Grey company, and a number of other purchasers have signified their intention of starting right in to build.

With the assurance of the city that the improvements that have been contemplated for the city park, at Patterson avenue, are going to be carried out in their entirety, this desirable location has stimulated buying in Roland Square to the extent that out of the 102 original lots that were offered by the J. R. Grey Realty company a month ago, but twenty-two remain unsold, which speaks for itself as to the desirability of this location for a home.

Of the remaining lots unsold, there are a number that are possibly the best that were in the tract, and it is safe to say that considering what has taken place in this tract during the past month there will not be a remaining lot unsold by the middle of November. It is well worth the time anyone might spend to go out to this section and have it impressed upon them the rapid growth that has taken place there recently.

Hint on Estimating Quantity of Paint

It is difficult to estimate the exact quantity of paint required to cover a given surface. A good paint will approximately cover 350 square feet to the gallon, two coats. The best way to estimate the quantity needed is to measure the distance around the building, multiply by the average height, add about one-fifth for trimming and corners and divided by 350. The result will approximately be the number of gallons required.

There are 215 members of the American Legion in Turkey.

MAKE HOME SUIT OWN NEEDS, BEST WAY TO BE CONTENTED

Good Advice To Homemaker of Moderate Means; Give Many Suggestions

If you feel very sure in the deep recesses of those convictions from which you can never escape, that you are decorating or are expecting to decorate the kind of a home in which you and your family will be best contented then you are building on rock and not on sand, and all will be well. But, if you are planning for a house that is too large or too small for you, too elegant or too simple, your home will not be able to withstand the flood of your mounting dislike for it. You cannot be truly happy in it.

Since it is scarcely within the strength of any of us to escape undisturbed from the flattery, praise or blame of our fellows, we usually overstep ourselves in the choice of our houses and the decorations of them. It only we might keep in mind that the truly great are truly simple in their tastes it would help considerably to speed us on our way to genuine happiness.

Cast Secure Anchor
The first essential to interior decoration is choice of location for the house. Steadily keep in mind the fact that the proper location, at your price, is to be found. If your means are limited, the only difficulty is that it may take you longer to discover it than it will them. Do, but realize what you really wish. Obtain it. Be happy with it.

Those who wish, either for themselves or for their heirs, to make a good investment in land need to stop a little longer to study underlying causes of development. There are some keys that open the situation with practically unerring surety.

Good advice to the homemaker of moderate means is not to make the mistake of buying too small a piece of land for your future home. Having bought your piece of land, put your house in or near the middle of it, counting crosswise. Leave more space for back yard than for front yard. More and more we are realizing that living in the eye of the public is deadly to the best that is within us.

If you expect to need a larger house ten years from now, place windows and doors in such positions that additions may be made without too much remodeling of rooms already built, keeping in mind at the same time the contours of the house as they appear from without.

But do not forget that doors and windows should be placed according to their utilitarian value plus their outlook, which includes the trees and shrubbery of your garden.

It is well known that square houses are most economical of building material and, in cold sections of our country, of fuel also.

Don't Decide Hastily
But in California, where the latter problem is not a serious one, do not decide too hastily upon a square shape. Since we have scenery and sunshine in such glorious abundance, let's revel in them a bit even if it takes a few more dollars at the start to do it.

Long narrow houses, houses with patios or with ell's have much to recommend them in an open-air country. At the same time we must all acknowledge that a square may be perfectly artistic, and that with such modifications as bay windows and tower rooms, light, air and scenery may be fully enjoyed.

Interior decoration is a unit, but scenery, light, temperature are essential parts of it.

In every particular in relation to our homes we should be determined egotists. In the first place the little piece of earth that is to be ours for our life-time should be suited to our feelings, the house should be an integral part of its surroundings, and its furnishings should be in accord with the house. In a home where all these things are in the heart as well as in the mind there is bound to be harmony of spirit.

Peace, Contentment
There will dwell peace and contentment. There will be true beauty. But if we allow others to set up our standards of values for us, if we build differently than we can afford or than as we feel there will be dissatisfaction and discord.

It has already been said that in the placing of doors and windows, views and shrubbery should be taken into account. Just as truly, in the placing of these openings, must adequate wall spaces be

PROPERTY OWNERS INVITED TO PETITION FOR STREET PAVING

City Right Up on Schedule With Job List; Work Takes Six Months to Complete

Got a little street in your neighborhood that needs paving? An invitation to property owners to bring in petitions to have their streets in front of their property paved was issued yesterday afternoon by Ben F. Dupuy, city engineer.

"We are right up to schedule on our job list," he replied. "We expect to keep right up to schedule right along, too. If necessary, we will put on more men to handle the work."

"If any new petitions for street improvements come in, we are in a position to take care of them immediately and start the plans for the street proceedings within thirty days. The hearing for protest can then be held in about sixty days and, in case there are no protests, the contract can be awarded in ninety days. The contractor usually is given ninety days to complete the work."

The whole job from first to last can be finished in about six months. That this length of time will be materially reduced by changes in the state law on the subject is not believed by Mr. Dupuy. He pointed out the fact that certain lapses of time are required at each stage of the procedure which cannot be eliminated.

Six Months Minimum
He believes that six months is the minimum of time under which any street can be improved. Paving recommended by Mr. Dupuy are either five inch concrete asphalt or five inch Willite for business streets and five inch macadam for residence streets.

The only sample of Willite paving so far in Glendale is the newly completed job on Brand boulevard, between Colorado street and Windsor road. Material for Willite streets are mixed under a patented process with two pounds of sulphate per ton of rock and asphalt. This ingredient is supposed to toughen the asphalt and make it more durable.

"This process has only been used for a period of about six years," asserted Mr. Dupuy. "We aren't able to tell yet just what the final outcome will be. No Willite paving has been in long enough to find out how long it will last. Some of that put six years ago is in very good condition. An example of this is Harbor boulevard across Nigger Slough between Los Angeles and Wilmington."

Sycamore Canyon road originally called for Willite paving.

Costs of Willite
Willite is thought by Mr. Dupuy to be slightly better than five inch concrete asphalt. The cost, which amounts to 29 or 21 cents a square foot, is similar.

"The asphalt dries out and the pavement begins to check," he stated. "Most asphalt concrete streets require resurfacing or some treatment every ten or twelve years. A number of pavements that have been in for a much longer period than that, however, are in good condition."

"An asphalt pavement, which gets fairly heavy traffic—that is a large number of vehicles that are not too heavily loaded—will last longer than one which has light traffic. Figueroa street in Los Angeles is the best example of an asphalt street in Southern California. It has a very heavy traffic but it is not a 'trucking boulevard.' Huntington drive in South Pasadena is another good example."

Fullerton is now having a number of her asphalt streets resurfaced. The cost is ranging between 12 and 14 cents a square foot. It is estimated that the new surface will have a lease of life of about ten or twelve years. Because of the fact that two inches of asphalt are added to the old paving every time a street is resurfaced, there is a limit to the number of times this can be done without bringing the street up to the level of the sidewalk.

Trenches Ruin Street
"Most city streets are ruined by trenches before the life of the paving is over," asserted Mr. Dupuy. "Most city streets are ruined by cuts in them before the paving has had time to wear out."

The five inch macadam paving, recommended for streets in the residential district, costs between 12 and 13 cents a square foot. The latest example of this form of paving is Pacific avenue.

"This paving will last almost indefinitely," said Mr. Dupuy. "It has a foundation of five inches of crushed granite and limestone. When the street wears out it can be broken up and relaid again, using the same materials. For residence streets I think this is the best thing we can get."

"Macadam is always a little rougher than Willite or asphalt but I think it will last fully as long considering the volume of traffic likely to travel over streets paved with this material."

"Los Angeles county started out on her original good roads program with eight inch macadam. The center strip of Central avenue was paved with this about 1908 or 1909. I think this portion of the street is still in fairly good condition."

Cheapest Paving
Three inch macadam paving, which costs about 10 cents a square foot, is not being recommended by the city engineering department and is only being permitted where the property owners insist upon the cheapest pavement which can be paid for by ten-year improvement bonds.

"The difference in cost between three-inch and five-inch macadam does not justify putting in three-inch macadam," remarked Mr. Dupuy positively. "A great many jobs have been advertised for three-inch macadam, but we are not recommending it. Of course, if people insist, we allow them to put it in."

Because of the fact that oiled streets will not outlive a ten-year improvement bond, streets surfaced in this manner are not allowed to go to bond and the job must be paid for in other ways. In many cases streets paved in this manner have been paid for by the subdividers of the tract.

Boost Solid Cement
Although the cement industry is now spending a great deal of money boosting the use of solid concrete for street paving, Mr. Dupuy does not believe that such streets stand up well.

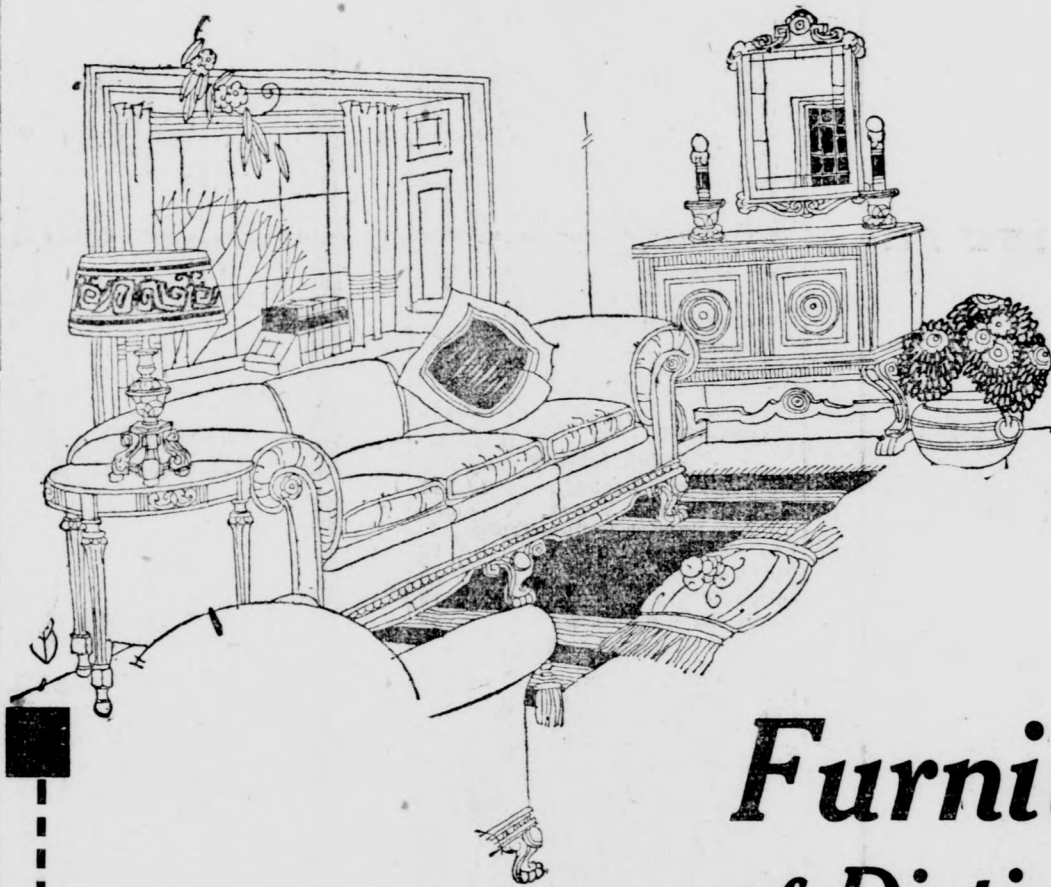

"Concrete roads have shown that they won't stand heavy traffic without having some sort of a wearing surface on top of them," he asserted. "This practically means building two roads—one for a foundation and the other for a wearing surface."

The only sample of this paving in Glendale so far as known by the city engineering department is Mountain street between Western and Alameda avenues. Half of this was paved with concrete by the county, largely because of the availability of the ingredients at Burbank. The city of Glendale is now planning to match the other half of the street in the same material.

Open Grain Woods Should Be Filled

Open-grained woods such as oak, ash, mahogany and walnut, should be filled with a good paste filler. This comes in paste form and should be thinned to a creamy consistency with pure turpentine applied with a bristle brush. A little should be put on at a time, allowed to set and rubbed clean with burlap, rag or excelsior across the grain of the wood. Close-grained woods, such as cherry, birch, white wood or maple, need no filler.

Gardens Attraction About Small Homes

No doubt ninety per cent of all small houses are planned without a thought as to their grounds. And of that colossal majority many are built and continue to exist indefinitely with their plots in the same though unimproved state. Even so, it is difficult to decide, after extensive observation among this ninety per cent, whether it has been better completely to ignore the grounds or to turn them over to the rubber-stamp designing of the neighborhood's landscape gardening nurseryman. In either case, by considering the grounds as nothing more than a spot on which to place the house, or possibly with which to give the house an "ornamental setting," there has been an utter failure to regard the grounds as the real asset that they actually are, to be used and enjoyed as an integral part of the establishment. Those of the ten per cent minority, on the other hand who plan their grounds thoroughly to supplement the uses and attractions of the house, have arrived at the very essence of the art of garden design.

For the substance of the garden design as it affects the small place is just this: that the grounds be as pleasantly livable as the house itself. To give the grounds this quality they should be planned on very much the same principles as those on which the house is planned. In other words, rather than regarding the grounds simply as an ornamental setting for the house—something merely to be looked at, with a border planting of shrubs, a foundation planting of varicolored conifers, a sprinkling of "specimen" blue spruces, Japanese maples, and weeping cherries—they should be regarded somewhat as a continuation outdoors of the house plan inside; an arrangement (on a grander scale, of course, and on a basis which will accept the existing conditions of the site as a sort of mold into which the scheme will fit sympathetically and appropriately) of spaces that can be compared to the rooms of the interior.

One of the objections to this method of small place planning is that it prevents an effect of spaciousness. This objection might be worth considering if it were possible on a small place to get an effect of spaciousness which was not an utter delusion. The bluff of sham spaciousness is so easily called that the thing eventually becomes an annoyance. In the end, the emptiness, the idleness, and the foolish pretence

Decorative Lounge Proves Luxurious

There are ever so many luxurious comforts that all women covet for their homes, and especially for their bedrooms, and an ample decorative chaise longue is one of them. A comfortable place to drop down to rest and read without disturbing the bed should be part of the equipment of every woman's sleeping room. But the handsome chaise longue of wicker, mahogany or Circassian walnut is an expensive affair, and of course is not an actual necessity, consequently many women jog along without it.

An inexpensive substitute for this de luxe couch is the ordinary steamer chair, painted to harmonize with the hangings of the room and fitted with padded seat, back and foot cushions, upon which may be tossed all sorts of ray pillows. It is delightfully restful, as all ocean voyagers know, and its long, low lines are not ungraceful in an inviting bedroom.

In a bedroom on the north side of a country house, where the bitter-sweet colors have been chosen, the chair is pointed a deep yellow with pillows of burnt orange. It is like lying down in a room of autumn leaves to take one's siesta in this radiant room.

of the specimen-dotted-lawn idea on the small place, or anywhere, for that matter, cannot fail to create a healthy reaction toward the type of arrangement which makes the whole place both useful and beautiful.

When it is necessary to build a small house the usual thing is to accept the challenge of its limitation in size and make the most of them; to give it charm and usefulness through intimacy and ingenuity rather than to throw the whole thing into one huge, barnlike room impressive because of its size but oblivious to all the amenities of comfortable and pleasant living. In the same way, when we forego the questionable satisfaction of grounds that are spacious in the sense that the inside of a barn is spacious, for grounds that are divided into various areas as the interior of the house is arranged into rooms, we find that we have achieved a genuine effect of size by the simple expedient of increasing the usefulness of the plot and creating on it distinct varieties of treatment.

Great ships require great waters.

Right Kind of Rug Tones Up the Room

No one article of furnishing so quickly gives a room distinction as just the right rug, and nothing so soon throws a whole scheme of decorating entirely out of key as inharmonious floor covering.

In planning for this most important article, three things should be taken into consideration—the amount and kind of usage the rug will receive, whether it is to serve as background, or, by its usual color and beauty of design, is to become the main decorative object in the room. If all the interest lies in the design of walls, hangings or upholstery, then the rug should be chosen for its color value to bring out and complement the other furnishings.

If, on the other hand, the walls are painted or papered in a neutral shade, devoid of any striking design, and the furniture done in velvet or damask of a rather indefinite pattern, it becomes necessary to introduce design as well as color into the floor covering to keep up the room and keep it from being pitifully monotonous, lacking in any definite interest.

In creating an entirely new interior the problem is simple. Walls, floor, hangings and upholstery can be considered as a whole and planned accordingly. But where one decides a new rug is imperative but the curtains and furniture covering simply must last another year, it is not such an easy matter. In this case the floor covering must be considered in relation to the other furnishings and should not be selected in a haphazard manner.

It is a healthy sign that vivid color and strong design are to be found in the newest wall papers, upholstery fabrics and rugs. We have been enslaved too long to plain, neutral-toned walls, floors and hangings—surroundings lacking in interest and character of any kind. It was rather an anemic form of decoration, a lazy attitude of mind, that found it easier to furnish rooms with plain fabrics than struggle with the shock of some strong, compelling color and sturdy, interesting pattern.

The rage for color in Paris and Vienna has resulted in some delightful fabrics unique in design as well as riotous in hue; the revival of the William Morris wall papers with their masculine patterns and fine colors and the growing demand for equally interesting rugs all point to a revival of decoration from the sturdy age before pastel shades were born, an age when men painted their deeds boldly in glowing color on walls, fabrics and rugs.

Christopher Columbus was the first sugar planter on this continent. He brought the cane on whole and planned accordingly. But where one decides a new

Story Is Told by Colored Wallpaper

A room needs little else in the way of decoration if the walls are hung with attractive scenic paper as some of the new revivals of old kinds, telling a story in a series of enchanting colors. When the woodwork is painted in pale colors to match, the effect is pleasing.

One finds dainty paper with wavering gray or ivory lines, stripes in green or blue, and flowers in pale nasturtium shades, like a rare old valentine, and a border like an old valance comes in solid shaded colors.

Gray-green ivy leaves on a white and gray background makes an ideal paper for a hall; a feathery design in white on pale pink or pale blue background would be charming for a bedroom. An early Victorian revival has a tufted gray background with cord and tassels in blue or rose, and there is an old-time paper with a buff ground, deep pink flowers and blue stripes which is very lovely for the bedroom.

Wall paper will open, in a room which seemed small, vistas which give breadth and space. Well-chosen it will make squat ceilings seem high, awkward angles change to graceful lines.

The duke of York, second son of King George, has an official allowance of $50,000 a year.

SUN PARLOR BIG FEATURE IN HOME

Most Livable Room in All House Should Be Made Most Comfortable

Styles and fads are continually changing. For instance, the parlor of thirty years ago is no longer wanted, and perhaps when another similar period has passed some of the things which are now regarded as necessary in any complete home will be discarded in the same way.

The sun parlor is generally conceded to be the most livable room in the house. The more window surface the better; and be sure that this room has a southern exposure, if possible, as otherwise it may receive the direct sunlight only a part of the day.

This room is usually treated as an attractive outdoor porch which has simply been converted into one of the apartments of the house by the enclosing sash, and much of the success of the room accordingly will depend upon the manner in which these sash are designed and operated. This arrangement should provide for the entire opening of the porch at one time, if desired, and also for the secure enclosure on short notice in case of bad weather.

This means that casement sash should be used, thus giving the full opening when wanted. In order, moreover, to prevent the liability of leaking, these casement sash should open outward, as those opening inward are likely to allow the rains to get in under the sash and over the sill.

Furthermore, if the sash open outward, the screens—that necessary evil—will have to be on the inside. These may be operated in several ways. They may be stationary and the sash operated through the bottom rail of the screen by means of any one of a dozen or more hardware devices; or the screens may be hinged at the top so that they may be opened inward slightly when it is desired to operate the sash. Or, a third and really ideal method is to use a rolling screen, which operates in a manner similar to that of the ordinary window shade.

With such an arrangement the screens may be left in place the year round, and can be rolled up at the top of the window where they are concealed behind the over draperies at all times when the sash of the window in question are closed.

In fact, this even means that it is not really necessary to screen all of the windows of the sun-parlor at all, unless you happen to live in an exceedingly warm climate, where the high temperature will make it necessary to open all the windows at once. Where such economy is practicable the screens may be distributed so as to give a few on each side of the room, and perfectly satisfactory results will be secured.

To give the feeling of a porch to the room, the walls will be attractive in a rough plaster or stucco finish; and the floor of tiling, or of concrete marked off in imitation, will be most pleasing.

In the furnishing, one or even two hanging swings will add greatly to the interest, and the other pieces of willow will be most appropriate.

Silver Adds Much to Home's Beauty

One should not forget the new silver when furnishing that better home. Silver is not merely "knives and forks and spoons." It is the foundation of the heirloom chest which the family is starting for posterity. It not only serves its purpose of usefulness at meals, but may be a thing of beauty in design, a joy to possess. Service dishes, trays and bigger pieces for the tea service are shown in lovely new designs.

Rent Receipts Fail to Buy Your House

The United States government thinks so much of the thrift movement that it is expending many thousands of dollars annually to keep the thought before the people. Whether we are so intentionally or not the fact remains that the American nation is extremely wasteful in its habits. It is easy for each one of us to make a list of the things we buy habitually which are of little or no value to us. But, when we are thinking along this line, we should not forget the one wasteful practice which the majority of families indulge in—that of buying rent receipts.

This purchasing of rent receipts is so needless, too. The landlord, be he kind or otherwise, always has us at his mercy. He can raise the rent on us at any time or he can order us to vacate his property at his convenience without regard for our wishes or possible losses. It is true that we live in a house meanwhile, but it can never be a real home, because home signifies possession; and our possession of a rented house or apartment is always precarious.

We all want a home, too. The wife longs for it and the kiddies constantly ask why they can not plant that flower garden or put up that bird-cote or do a thousand other things that normal children want to do—and can not when they are homeless. Even the little ones are often barred from the rented apartment—and that means a terrible loss alike to the married couple, the community and the nation.

And you can have a home for what your useless rent receipts cost you. Did you ever stop and think for a few consecutive moments along that line? For instance, you pay a rental of $20 a month—very modest in these days—well, in ten years that will aggregate $2400, for which you can build a home equally as good as the one which you can get for that rental. And so you can add the rent you pay in any twelve months and multiply it by ten and there is your home.

But, suppose you can not put out that amount at once. Here is where thrift comes in at the door and waste is forced to fly out at the window—or any other available opening. Have you ever considered that the average cost of cosmetics, chewing gum, sodas and soft drinks, joy rides and pleasure resorts is $276 per year for every man, woman and child in the United States? That is what Uncle Sam says, based on the figures secured by his census bureau.

Now, here are yourself and wife—suppose you have no little ones in your family as yet. There is an average of $552 a year for these few luxuries, to say nothing of a hundred others that may be named. Can you not save out of these other things for a few years only, sufficient to pay the interest on the sum of money which will buy your real home? You will not have to give them up—by no means. But, by a little care you can lop off here and there a dollar or five or ten, until before you know it, you will have your own home and are on "Easy Street."

Waste is not alone spending foolishly—it also comprises failure to spend wisely.

What more sensible expenditure can you make than when buying a home?

The last few years have seen more home-buyers than any century previous—all because men and women are listening to the voices of their better natures and providing places where their children may develop with their trees and flowers and pets, and where husbands and wives may grow into fathers and mothers who are both wise and generous.

The road to thrift ever leads away from waste; the buying of a home is the most thrifty thing you have ever contemplated or achieved, and, by far, the best way to buy a home is to build one.

Pride In Your Home Steadily Increases

Your home reflects exactly what you are. To the realm of your own domain, you bring those things that mean most to you. Little by little it assumes marked expressions of your personality—it becomes unmistakably yours.

Your pride in it increases as you add to the beauty and comfort of your home. The yearning for things beautiful is universal. For that reason, it is important that your home be adorned with furnishings that answer the fine demands of your nature, contribute to the unvarying charm of your surroundings and definitely establish an attraction that holds the family together and brings eager friends to your hearth.

There is no longer legitimate apology for commonplace or unattractive homes. Never before have displays been more beautiful nor suites more wonderful. They have never before been so within the reach of those of moderate means.

Metal Beds 'Woods'
It used to be that when one bought a metal bed, it was strictly for sanitary reasons, and in spite of the way it looked in the room. But now, with the new designs to choose from, we can have all those sanitary advantages of metal combined with the charm of present-day decorative feeling. Hardwood effects—mahogany, oak, Circassian walnut, are ready for choice together with ivory, French gray and flat white.

COKER & TAYLOR LECTURES LIKED

Glendale Housewives Secure Valuable Information on Domestic Science

Housewives of Glendale who have accepted the invitation from Coker & Taylor to attend domestic science lectures and demonstrations Saturday afternoon at their plumbing store at 205 South Brand boulevard, have acquired much valuable information on kitchen and home management.

These lectures are given each Saturday afternoon by some member of the store staff or special domestic science expert and are announced each week in the Coker & Taylor advertisement in the columns of The Glendale Evening News.

The store's guests on these occasions are entertained by demonstrations of the use of the Direct Action stoves, equipped with the Lorain heat regulators, which are said to be second to the sewing machine as a labor saving device.

The ideal stove department is just one of the units of the splendidly stocked store. In addition they have an extensive stock of gas heaters, gas radiators and water heaters, and also the most modern bathroom equipment and fixtures.

In selling and working on gas appliances the Coker & Taylor people give free service.

ALTRUISM IN FURNITURE
If you have a friend who is a semi-invalid give her a chaise longue. Or if you have a furnished porch get one for yourself. Buy a wicker one with a bright cretonne cushion. They are not cheap, as a matter of fact they are a real luxury. But they are so comfortable.

An average of 100 girls have their hair bobbed each week in Honolulu.

MASTER PIANISTS AT YOUR SERVICE

Fred V. Shuck Tells About Ampico in Knabe Piano; Thrilling Experience

"Did you ever hear anybody say, 'I can't bear mechanical piano playing?'" asks Fred V. Shuck of the Shuck Music company, at 211-213 North Brand boulevard. "That person certainly never heard the Ampico in the Knabe piano. For there is a device that is only a machine, yet so uncanny in its action as to reproduce the playing of the master pianists with all the human qualities of the artists themselves. It is not like Godowsky's playing (to name one pianist who records exclusively for the Ampico) it is Godowsky's playing and Godowsky at his very best, too."

"It is a thrilling, unique experience to listen to the Ampico, and the oftener one hears it the more amazed and delighted he becomes, especially when the Ampico is in the Knabe, that supreme achievement of the piano builders' art."

The Shuck music rooms, where Glendale people may hear the Ampico, impress the visitor with their artistic atmosphere, entirely devoid of the feeling of commercialism. There is a charming idealism about the Shuck store such as one associates with real art, and it is indeed a pleasure to spend a few hours in musical browsing there.

Since coming to Glendale Mr. Shuck has taken an active part in business and civic affairs. He is a member of the local Elks lodge, the Knights of Pythias, Chamber of Commerce, First Methodist church and other business and social organizations.

VINES FURNISH MORE BEAUTY AND COMFORT, TOO, FOR HOMES

Even Small Places May Be Made Very Much More Attractive By Use of Climbers

By F. F. ROCKWELL

Some people have room for but a very few shrubs or plants; or can afford, to start with, only a limited number.

There is one kind of plant, however, which everyone can use, and make use of, to the fullest extent. Plants which take up, literally, no room, and which almost anyone can get as many of as can be used about the place. I refer to vines.

No other kind of plant serves so fully to make the place belong in its setting; to break ugly lines and angles; and to make the house look like a real comfortable home.

The first and perhaps the most important use of vines is to utilize them in making a living-room of the porch.

Properly arranged, they will give shade and privacy in summer; but at the same time they will admit all the sunshine in winter, when we are so glad to get it. You do not have to go beyond your own experience to recall houses with verandas which are not used from one end of the year to the other; poor forsaken verandas which hardly ever know a human footstep, except when some visitor, unable to get an answer at the front door, walks around them to look in the windows to see if there's anybody at home!

Open to Breeze

And you know of other verandas of the same kind, screened from the sun with a curtain of vines, but open to any breeze that may be stirring, where every member of the family has a chair or a cushion to use, when they are not lucky enough to get the favorite hammock-seat; and where the neighbors join in for a little visit when they drop in for a little visit of a summer's evening. Even the porch or stoop can be made quite a comfortable little "sitting-room," if enclosed with vines.

The usefulness of vines around the place, however, is not by any means restricted to the purposes suggested above. Many a small place has room for a little arbor or roughly made summer-house, where it would cost very little to erect and which, when covered over with vines or climbing roses, will make a favorite spot for resting or reading or sewing, or an afternoon cup of tea, all summer long. There will be no cost of "up-keep," for a little place of this kind, and you've no idea how much you will use it and enjoy it, not only for play, but for a good deal of work which can be done there as well as in the heat of the kitchen.

Then, too, there are arches or trellises, that may be easily fitted into the general plan of making the home grounds more attractive. An arched trellis over a gate, or a lattice against some two of the many ways which can be provided to utilize climbing plants.

Hide Ugly Fences

Even the fences around the place, which are often its ugliest feature, may be transformed, by the use of climbing plants, into masses of beauty. But in this connection one word of caution is necessary. Some vines, such as honeysuckle, which are ideal for covering fences, in time get quite heavy. They should be provided with good rugged posts, and extra strong wires, so that they will stand up as they should for many years.

Probably the most popular of all climbing plants are the ramblers, so I shall say a few words about them first of all.

To begin with, the old crimson Rambler, which everybody knows, and which is still planted by the thousand, should no longer head the list when you think of buying climbing roses. There are a number of newer "ramblers" which have every advantage of the old "crimson" in hardiness, which are better in color, have a longer season of bloom, and, most important, have foliage which is not so subject to the mildew that almost always spoils the looks of the crimson Rambler during a long part of the season. "Flower of Fairfield," sometimes called the "everblooming crimson Rambler," is one of these. Excelsa (also called Red Dorothy Perkins) is another. Hiawatha is one of the most attractive of all. These are only a few of the fine new hardy climbers.

In addition to these roses of the Rambler type, there is another class of climbing roses, quite distinct from them, which have only recently been developed. I refer to the new climbers which have large flowers borne singly, or in clusters of only a few, so that the individual flowers are just as beautiful and attractive as those from the regular bush or garden roses. Those climbing roses give flowers for cutting, that have long, stiff stems, and are in every way as beautiful as garden roses. Among the roses of this class are climbing American beauty, Dr. Van Fleet, silver moon, Christine

Wright, and newest and best of all, Paul's scarlet climber. I would urge upon every lover of flowers the planting of at least one or two of these large-flowered climbing roses. They are one of the greatest acquisitions to the flower world that have been made in a generation.

Do Not Give Shade

This much attention we have paid to the climbing roses, because while they are not, strictly speaking, "vines," they are used so widely in the same way that vines are used.

One thing which the roses do not give, however, is as much shade as is usually wanted. Often shade is the one thing which is most desired from a climbing plant.

At the head of the list of plants which give shade for the house, I would place Dutchman's pipe vine (Aristolochia siphon), and the Dutchman's pipe vine has very large leaves which are borne in such a way that they form a kind of thatch. It is vigorous and healthy, and makes a very rapid growth and the foliage keeps its pleasing color until very late in the fall. It bears rather odd brownish-colored flowers which are not unlike a pipe in shape, thus giving the plant its name. The flowers, however, are rather inconspicuous and hardly worth while if one is seeking a vine for its flowers. This plant, while very hardy and thriving well almost everywhere, was usually imported from abroad until the present plant quarantine went into effect. While plants of this fine vine are not quite so easy to obtain as they were before, it is still available, and will repay any efforts that may be necessary to obtain it.

For Wire Covering

The Kudzu vine (Pueraria thunbergiana) is the most rapidly growing of all vines for shade, a growth of thirty to fifty feet being made in a single season. It is splendid for covering a wire or string trellis in front of a sunny porch, or for summer houses or pergolas. It is not, however, so hardy as the Dutchman's pipe vine; and in the northern climates must be protected during winter; or the bulbous root may be taken up and stored in the cellar over winter. Late in the summer the Kudzu vine bears long racemes of rosy-purple pea-shaped flowers.

Where such a dense shade is not needed, one of the most all-around satisfactory vines is the American Ivy or Virginia Creeper (ampelopsis quinquefolia). This is our native "woodbine," with leaves deeply cut into five points. It is extremely hardy and quick-growing, and makes an ideal covering for trees, trellises, fences and so forth. The foliage, which is of a pleasing deep-green color all summer, assumes shades of crimson, yellow and scarlet in the fall. The inconspicuous flowers are followed by attractive blue-black berries which remain on the vines a long time. While vines can be gathered from the wild if one happens to live near woods where they are to be found, much quicker and more certain results are to be had from nursery-grown stock, which may be bought at a very reasonable price, good, strong plants costing less than half a dollar.

Now as to the vines which are particularly good for flowering.

First of all, perhaps, should come the honeysuckles, the Lonicera family. Perhaps the most satisfactory of these for an all-around purpose is Hall's Japan honeysuckle. This is extremely hardy and very free flowering, showing soon bloom almost the entire season. Even in the northern states the leaves stay on until very late in the winter, the plant being almost evergreen. The small, tubular flowers are pure white and creamy yellow, and very fragrant.

Several Varieties

The golden leaved Japan honeysuckle is quite similar, but the leaves are a clear golden yellow, producing a very striking effect.

There are several other varieties including the Dutch honeysuckle, with its red and yellow sprays.

There is a variegated variety, the foliage of which is mottled with beautiful yellow and green.

Next to the honeysuckle for general satisfaction, I would put the clematis. The best known form of this is the Japanese virgin's bower (clematis paniculata). This makes a satisfactory vine for shade, and decoration during spring and early summer, and in August and September it is literally covered with its pure-white, small, starry flowers, which are deliciously fragrant. These, in turn, are followed by the feathery seed pods, which form a floating mist of silver gray.

The vine, which is very hardy and of rapid growth, not only climbs well, but also is suitable for fences, banks, rock work and, in fact, almost any place where a vine can be used. A good companion for the above is the Montana clematis, which is perfectly hardy and which flowers very early in the spring, in late April and May.

The large flowering clematis, such as packmanii, have the most beautiful flowers of all climbing plants, with the possible exception of the wistaria. They are not, however, as robust as the varieties mentioned above, and need rich soil and an abundance of water.

Most Effective

The wistaria is, in many ways, the most effective of all climbing vines, particularly for use against stone work or over second-story verandas. It is also fine for pergolas. The flowers are borne in enormous hanging racemes of lavender or pure white. The vines should be given a substantial support around which they may twine, as they do not support themselves by clinging.

The trumpet vine (bignonia) with its dark red or orange, large,

Lightning Cause of Electrical Fires, Claim

In the course of a study to ascertain the origin of fires of proven electrical origin, the records of several hundred such fires in one of the southern states were examined by the Society for Electrical Development and it was found that the chief cause was lightning or electrical burnouts, due to lightning disturbances. There is not a single record during the fifteen years of a building which was properly rodged being struck by lightning; all fires resulting from a building being struck by lightning occurring in buildings not provided with lightning rods or in buildings where the rods were defective or not properly grounded. It is impossible to say whether all the buildings in which such fires occurred would have escaped had they been properly rodged, but it is very certain that many of them would not have caught fire. In equipping a building with lightning rods, it is essential that the conductors should terminate in a sufficient number of points above the highest parts of the structure. These points should all be connected and the entire system run to a permanent "ground" in wet earth.

trumpet-shaped flowers is good for climbing up woodwork or covering stumps, rocks or unsightly banks. It is extremely hardy and free from insects and diseases.

Then there are the vines for covering surfaces.

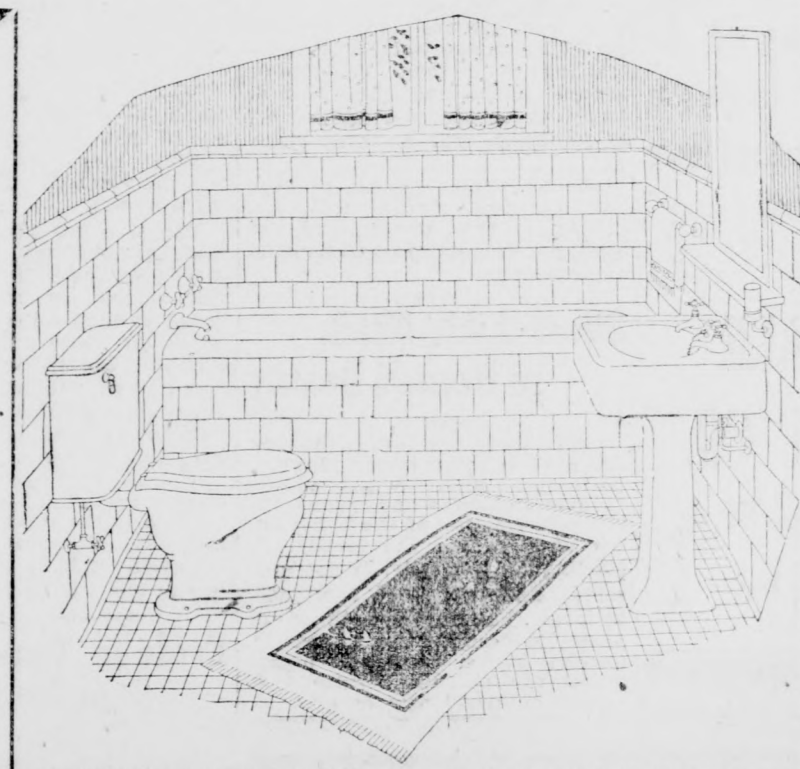

The most satisfactory of these for general purposes is the Boston or Japanese Ivy (Ampelopsis veitchii). This grows rapidly, clings to the smooth surface and forms a perfect thatch of foliage which is richly olive green during the summer, and turns to gorgeous colors in the fall. There is a new variety of this which has smaller, more deeply cut foliage.

Covering for Walls

Where the foundation of a house or a wall is to be covered the evonymus is particularly desirable because it is both evergreen and extremely hardy. There are several varieties all of which are very good.

Then there is, of course, the hardy English ivy, which, while it is not so much of a climber as some of the preceding, is invaluable for covering walls, and also as a ground cover where it is too shady for grass to grow.

If you will look over the above list of vines and select one or more for each of the three purposes mentioned—supplying shade, or bearing beautiful flowers, or covering some bare or unsightly house-wall or foundation or fence—you will find that your place could be made infinitely more comfortable and attractive by the use of a few of these inexpensive, rapid-growing plants.

BURTON REALTY CONCERN BOOSTS

Promotes Subdivisions and Builds New Homes; Helps In Advancing City

Some more evidence supporting Glendale's claim to being "the fastest growing city of its size in the United States" is the activity and business success enjoyed by the Burton Realty company at 200 1/2 West Broadway.

The Burton company owns and promotes the Burton subdivision on Pacific avenue, just south of Kenneth Road, consisting of seven acres, divided into thirty lots, one-half of which are sold. It is a most desirable home location because of the $5000 building restriction, provision against temporary homes, and the special features, sidewalks, curbs, paved streets, water, lights and gas installed.

W. T. Burton, head of the company, is also interested in South San Fernando Road properties and reports gratifying realty activities on South Brand boulevard.

Spanish Type Homes
At present Mr. Burton has contracted with L. Cline, contractor of 436 West Wilson avenue, for the construction of four six-room Spanish type homes in the Burton subdivision and also for the building of several flats and duplexes, one to be erected on the corner of Central avenue and Doran street.

The Burton office has recently taken over the Glendale agency of the Royal Indemnity company and will write all kinds of bond and compensation insurance; also fire insurance.

Right Now Is Good Time to Find Home

Homes, more homes, better homes. These are the slogans of today. They are setting the American people to thinking as they never have in the past. We even have a national "Better Homes Week" once a year to impress upon us the importance of having a home of our own, and making that home the very best possible.

There is no question about it—the dearest spot on earth to you is home for it is there you expect to spend at least the greater portion of your life; there the children will be born and live to maturity, and should be reared in ideal surroundings; that the beloved wife will devote the principal part of her time while you are at business and while the kiddies are at school.

As your new home is going to represent the fulfillment of so much in your life, it is wisdom for you to be careful in choosing the location, the plans, the building materials, and its furnishings.

Location plays a large part in the establishment of a successful home; among the things which should be considered are the character and desirability of the neighborhood. A thousand dollars' difference in the price of a lot often spells the difference between a neighborhood which is bound to run down in time and one which will improve with years. Schools, churches, playgrounds, library and transportation services are other conveniences which are inseparable from the desirable homes of today.

The size and style of home will depend entirely upon individual taste, requirements and investment. The bungalow created in various designs to meet climate and building conditions, has, in recent years, proven itself America's most popular architecture.

Evergreens Never Clutter Up Yards

Evergreen trees never take a vacation, say the nurserymen. Have you paid any attention to the state of your trees lately? Haven't you got tired of raking up leaves under certain trees and wished for evergreen in their places?

Visit a local nursery, consult with the head about the trees you may substitute, and start your better home improvements—in the yard!

and, because of their inexpensive construction costs, conveniences and adaptability for any location, are rightfully entitled to the proud position they occupy. The two-story home, however, is, and always will be, adopted by those whose requirements call for a large number of rooms in housing their own families, friends and relatives.

The furnishings of the dearest place on earth should be the subject of much careful thought. A play-room for the kiddies, with a place for toys when not in use. The home library with bookshelves or cabinets. The wife should be the one to furnish the bedrooms, also the bathroom. She will take an intense interest and realize a great joy in making these rooms places of daintiness and beauty. Living room, dining room, breakfast nook, den and library should be planned for service, and should be decorated to harmonize, and have hardwood floors if possible.

And then the lawn and the flower garden and the back yard, with shade and fruit trees and roses and vines climbing the side of the house and garage—ah, there's much in the making of a home, and you will grow into it naturally when you have once made the start.

Have you a home of your own? If not, now—today—is the time to take the first steps.

KNOW YOUR RUGS AND GET SERVICE

Expert Information Will Be of Great Value In Use of Floor Coverings

When purchasing a rug or carpet it is a help to know something of the different types and weaves. Only through such knowledge can one buy wisely. A rug should be durable, easily cleaned and suitable in color and design for the room intended. The cheapest wool rug is the ingrain. This is woven like cloth, with a warp and woof, and is reversible. It wears well, considering the cost, but it is difficult to find good color and patterns in this type of rug. Formerly they were used widely for bed rooms and dining-rooms, but have given way for the most part to the handsomer and higher quality rugs, such as Brussels or Wilton.

Brussels rugs are of two kinds, known as body Brussels and tapestry Brussels. The former is far the best, both in wear and appearance. It is made by a lock stitch in which one thread is woven over the other. The pile is looped in the warp and held in loops during the weaving process by stretched wires. When the wires are drawn out the uncut loops are left. This constitutes the pile. Not more than six colors can be used in making Brussels carpet. Body Brussels often comes in excellent small patterns, with good color combinations, and it invariably wears well. For that reason it has long been popular for dining-room and living-room use where hard wear is to be expected.

Lose Body With Age
Tapestry Brussels rugs are far inferior to body Brussels. They frequently have much sizing and lose body as they grow old. For this reason they should not be steam cleaned. The pattern wears off readily, as it is printed on by machine after the rugs are woven. It is often blurred in appearance. Such rugs are not to be recommended unless the first cost must be kept low. In the end body Brussels is cheaper than tapestry Brussels.

A rug that is dependable and attractive is the Wilton of a good grade. There are many grades of Wiltons. The Wilton is heavier and more velvety than the Brussels. It is woven in the same way as Brussels, but the pile is cut. Steaming gives it the appearance of velvet. French Wiltons are woven with cotton back, but they come in good designs and colors and give long service. Hartford Saxony is a Wilton with a longer nap. Such rugs are usually very handsome, but the long nap sometimes pulls and so reduces the wear.

Wilton velvet rugs are imitations of Wiltons. They are cheaper, less durable and less attractive rugs, not to be recommended. It is much more economical to buy a good grade of Wilton rug, even though it costs considerably more at first. In wear as well as appearance it will well repay the difference in price.

Brussels Is Favored
The best rug of domestic or European make is the Brussels. It is like Wilton in weave but has a heavier pile. It has much of the richness and beauty of an Oriental rug, lasts for years and gives excellent satisfaction in every way. Some Chenilles have a pile of great depth and a richness of color that give much distinction. Cotton Chenilles are used for bath mats.

For sunparlors and porches, hemp and grass rugs in various weaves are much used. Some of the newer types are braided by hand and come in glowing colors and unusual designs. Most of them have the fault of giving off lint and of being so porous that they allow the dust to go through to the floor. On the other hand, they are light, easily cleaned and comparatively inexpensive. Rag rugs are made both by hand and by machinery. The hooked rag rugs made of cretonne are especially attractive for bed rooms and nursery. Such rugs wear well, are readily cleaned with soap and water or with the hose and are quite inexpensive. Small oval braided rugs are suitable for bathrooms and for porches.

Oriental and Chinese rugs vary widely in weave, wearing quality, and in value. The best of these are the aristocrats among rugs, but one needs to know something about them before buying. This information can be obtained from various books on the subject. No brief article can undertake to cover it.

J. E. PETERS WILL OPEN NEW TRACT

Builds Nearly 100 Houses in Two Years; Plans to Sell On Small Payments

A record of building nearly 100 homes in two years, is claimed by J. E. Peters of 125 1/2 North Brand boulevard, contractor and builder, who has resided in Glendale for twelve years.

That everyone should own their own home is Mr. Peters' theory and in supporting this theory he says:

"I have made it a rule to help the families who have only moderate incomes to own their homes. I build the homes with only small payments down and the balance like rent, giving them a beautiful modern, well built home, one they may well afford to be proud of."

It is Mr. Peters' intention to open up a ten-acre tract in the Grand View district in which he will sell lots for very small payments.

REAL PROSPERITY SHOWN BY BANKS

Plenty of Evidence Country Is Progressing; Savings Accounts Plentiful

Evidences of increasing prosperity and thrift of the public is reflected in the reports received by Comptroller of the Currency Crissinger from national banks relating particularly to the number of savings accounts and savings deposits in these associations on June 30 last.

These reports show that there were 5782 national banks in the Continental United States carrying savings accounts or operating savings departments and that they were custodians of $3,046,054,000 savings deposits credited to 8,873,327 depositors, to whom the banks were paying interest at an average rate of 3.75 per cent. These figures (representing the greatest amount of this character ever reported by national banks), compared with June 30, 1921, show an increase of 162 in the number of banks which are featuring this class of business, an increase of 764,085 in number of depositors, and an increase of $88,499,000 in savings deposits.

The average rate of interest on savings deposits for the two years remains practically the same. The increases noted do not fully express the difference between the two dates, by reason of the fact that in the returns for June 30, 1922, all savings deposits were excluded which did not come within the characterization of savings deposits as defined by the Federal Reserve Board. There are many national banks having savings accounts that do not require thirty days' notice of withdrawal, returns from which were included in the 1921 summary but not in the 1922.

The eastern states rank first in the number of savings depositors and amount of their deposits, with 1519 banks, 3,229,508 depositors and $1,196,300,000 deposits. The middle western states second in number of depositors and amount of deposits with 1729 banks, 2,619,419 depositors and $733,873,000 deposits. The southern states rank third with 933 banks, 1,332,289 depositors and $469,494,000 deposits.

Good Proportions
Overly large pieces of furniture overcrowd a small room and seem to dwarf other pieces. Suitability of furniture to the room in which it is to be placed is the first consideration when making selections.

Have An "A B C" Super Electric

Electric
SWEEPER-VAC
With Motor Driven Brush
Two Vacuum Cleaners in One at the Price of Only One

The Sweeper-Vac is the one cleaner that is most suitable for the home. It is actually two cleaners in one. It cleans by a combination of very powerful suction plus the gentle, sweeping action of a correctly speeded Motor Driven Brush. Or, if desired, it can clean by powerful suction alone.

Move "that Lever" to the right and you have the combined cleaning efficiency of powerful suction plus a motor revolved brush. This combination will not only clean surface and embedded dirt from your rugs, but will also gently sweep up all hairs, threads and lint—a feature impossible to cleaners that clean by air alone.

Bear in mind that the Motor Driven Brush of the Sweeper-Vac differs from all others in that it is correctly speeded and so placed in the nozzle that it positively gets all the dirt, yet cannot injure the finest rug. Move "that Lever" to the left and the Sweeper-Vac cleans by powerful suction alone. The brush does not move. This feature of the Sweeper-Vac is of vital interest to the housewife who intends to use her Sweeper-Vac as more than a rug cleaner. Through the use of the hose attachments, the powerful suction of the Sweeper-Vac thoroughly and easily cleans upholstery, tapestries, and all furnishings, ceilings, walls and moldings, and is also used to blow new life into mattresses, pillows and tufted furniture.

A child could operate the Sweeper-Vac, which is extremely light in weight and easy running because of its generous sized, rubber-tired steel disc wheels and smooth gliding nozzle. The Sweeper-Vac needs no adjustment for varying grades of rugs, but cleans thin, slippery rugs as well as those that are thicker napped.

It is mechanically and electrically perfect, has no complicated mechanism to get out of order, has a very convenient electric

Other electric washers rock and toss the soiled things in a tub of sudsy water . . . and it is a good method.

The A B C Super Electric does both. Rapidly it alternates these good methods, and so it combines their advantages.

For less than the cost of a washing we will deliver one of these sturdy machines to your home to end all wash day drudgery. After having used it one Monday you will wonder why you ever tried to get along without this simple, sturdy electric laundress that handles clothes so gently and washes them so thoroughly.

The whole device is very simple. There are very few parts and each one is unusually strong.

You will enjoy owning an "ABC" Super Electric.

switch placed right at the finger tips for instant control of the current, has "that Lever" conveniently placed for switching the brush on and off, it is air-cooled the same as expensive automobile engines, it has a non-spill dust bag and has 24 feet of electric cord, which permits cleaning in room removed from the socket.

The Sweeper-Vac has been tested and approved by Good Housekeeping, and all recognized testing institutes. It is made and guaranteed by the oldest vacuum cleaner manufacturers of continuous standing in the industry. It will pay you to see the Sweeper-Vac before you definitely select any cleaner. ## REPAIR ROOF, FOR WINTER'S COMING

Better Get Work Done In Advance of Hard Rain, Declare Experts

Now that umbrellas are being featured by the local department stores the Glendale Associated Builders' Supply company suggests that a remodeled or new roof is another good idea before the real rainy season starts in. B. H. Custer and Frank Pesch, members of the firm are experienced roofers with "Quality" as their motto. They are located at 108 West Colorado street. "We launched our business in Glendale," said Mr. Custer, "because we saw a great field for it here with all the building activity in progress."

Use Care Planning Your Dining Room

It is certainly worth one's while to plan carefully the dining-room in the better home. Here the family is gathered twice a day at least. Here there is the leisurely dinner hour and the adventures of the day recounted. Well furnished, well lighted and comfortable, the dining-room should be one of the most pleasant spots in the house and money spent in making it so is well invested. There is no reason why members of the family should daily seek restaurants and cafes if their own dining-room has sufficient charm and livableness to lure them to the home-cooked meals. Make the dining-room an apartment which is not entered merely at meal time, but wherein members of the family may feel at ease when reading or working between times and which adds to the enjoyment of the meal itself by being a place of beauty and comfort.

Gives Information On Planting Bulbs

Tulips, hyacinths and daffodils should be planted three or four to a pot, according to size; fill the pot with earth and set in the bulbs—not pressing them into the earth—water well and put away in a cool, dark place, such as a cellar. Water at least once a week. Leave them not less than four weeks, longer if possible, then bring them to the light. Do not place them in the direct sunlight, however, until the sunlight, however, until the flower has emerged through the neck of the bulb, or it will come too fast and spoil the bloom. Water frequently and keep in a window that gets plenty of sunshine. After blooming, place the pots in the cellar for a few weeks; the bulbs can then be planted out-of-doors and will bloom again, but cannot be forced a second time.

The Chinese sacred Lily and paper-white narcissus do not need to be set away to make roots; place the bulbs in a glass bowl, in gravel or pebbles, fill with water, set the bowl in a sunny window and replenish the water as it evaporates. They will bloom in from three to five weeks, and the bulbs may be thrown away after blooming, as they cannot be forced again and are not suitable for outdoor planting. If desired a succession of bloom for the winter may be obtained by leaving in the cellar and bringing one pot to the light at a time; as one is in full bloom, have another started.

Bulbs should be planted in October and November; and in setting them out doors cover with leaves or straw for protection, removing the covering in early spring. While this is not strictly necessary, the treatment does preserve the vitality of the bulbs to a great extent, and it is very little work. Plant the bulbs six inches deep; after blooming they may be taken up and stored away, or left in the ground, where they will bloom for years, increasing very rapidly.

Avant China Shop
The plate rail on which plates and other pieces of china were once displayed has been banished from most homes of good taste. It is no longer considered good form nor good sense to thus display china. In keeping with this idea is the clearing away of silver cut glass from the buffet.

WROUGHT IRON IS ONCE MORE USED

All Sorts of Decorations and Good Uses Offered to Home Builders

Wrought iron, hand forged, has come into its own again. In the past collectors have for some time been making raids on old houses and paying a price asked for the old knockers, hinges, clamps and bars that were beaten into shape many years ago by skilled artisans who took time to do their work right. Many of these pieces have an individuality as distinct as that of a genuine Adam or Hepplewhite chair.

Many of the makers of wrought iron pieces were the village blacksmiths, who found expression for their sound ideas of honesty, harmony and beauty in the work they shaped with such loving care from the molten metal that was their medium. For many years the work of these craftsmen was disregarded, but now every knocker and hinge and other piece of handwrought work has taken on a value that makes it an acquisition much prized. The wonder is that those blessed with an appreciation for beauty did not long ago make such work popular. For most of the prize-winning pieces possess the individuality, the singularity and the simplicity that characterize all sound hand work. Each hammer stroke was placed with the certainty of the skilled craftsman whose pride in his work and whose sense of personal responsibility made impossible the artificiality of redundant ornament. To them iron was what clay is in the hands of the sculptor. They understood to the full how iron rendered malleable by heat and beaten into shape by a hammer takes under the hands of the artist all sorts of graceful and beautiful forms.

Now Factory Product
With the beginning of factory production, the worth of handwrought iron was almost lost sight of for a time. But with the revival of appreciation for it, craftsmen are again producing it. Factories also, in response to a growing demand, are putting out work of greater merit. Some large producers are having a large part of the work done by hand. A part of this is comparable in design and workmanship with the best examples of the earlier period. Some are compromising by adopting excellent shapes and designs and having the objects made by machinery and then beaten with a hammer by hand to impart the effect of hand work. Of course, these pieces are less expensive than those made entirely by hand. Having good shapes and designs, they are worthy of consideration, though they do not give the same joy to the owners as do the pieces that are the individual product of the skilled craftsman who puts individuality into his product that no machine can reproduce.

There Are Three Classes
Hand-wrought iron that is now in demand may be divided into three classes of articles. First, there are the hinges, knockers, clamps and other pieces that may be grouped under the head of hardware. Then there are various pieces of furniture, such as tables, stands, flower holders, smoking sets. With these may be classed the fireplace sets and candlesticks that have long been popular. A third class of wrought-iron objects includes such accessories as become an integral part of the house, such as lighting fixtures, stair rails, window guards and door and window grilles. The latter class of objects is in high favor with architects who plan stately homes in which expense is of the last consideration. Some of the stair rails and grilles are as exquisite as old lace, with the intricate patterns carried out in a perfection of detail that makes for beauty.

It is wrought-iron furniture that has the most interest just now for the readers of this page. For, except to those who are planning or building a home, hardware and other immovable accessories are of interest chiefly as objects to be admired in other people's houses. Wrought-iron furniture, on the contrary, is of interest to all. For most of us can find a place which nothing can fill quite as well as a table, a stand, or other object of this material. In design and shape the tables vary enough to give wide choice. For instance, there is the elaborate table with Italian lines, fit to grace any room, the output of a Chicago firm, and there is the very simple stand which is appropriate for hall or sun parlor. Consoles of excellent design are to be had, as well as stands of various shapes.

Uses for Wrought Iron
A room in which wrought-iron pieces can be used with excellent results is the sun parlor. For this room are flower holders, plant stands, lamps, torches, aquarium stands and wall brackets. There are also hanging lanterns and candleholders and lamp stands with parchment shades. The latter are coming into general use in many cases supplanting the too ornate piano lamp with its elaborate shade and general effect of display.

Some manufacturers are finishing their wrought-iron products in an antique polychrome in soft reds, dull blues, tarnished golds and in black. This makes them decorative accessories that, in addition to excellence of shape and design, have the charm of rich and well-blended color.

Rugs Still Askew
Small rugs should be laid parallel to the walls, not at an angle. This has been said many times, but it bears constant repetition. The making of this one change would vastly improve many a room.

Bedrooms Indicate Lot of Ingenuity

Of all rooms in the house, the bedroom best expresses the individuality of its occupant more explicitly than any other. Here the average woman feels free to satisfy her tastes and whims, for it is here where she may go for rest and quiet, and she has learned that perfect repose can best be achieved among surroundings which are harmonious.

Through her own ingenuity she may choose and adapt the things which go to give her room both individuality and charm. The great four-post beds of our ancestors, the curved bed set on raised dais enveloped in trapings and curtains of rich tapestries, and other couches of times long gone do not appeal to the average woman.

It is the dainty, comfortable bed, often in gray or ivory, decorated in simple panels and garlands, or with flower motifs which give her room daintiness and charm. Simple curtains with chintz drapes and chaste walls with a few well-chosen pictures complete this feminine bedroom, with its low rocker and desk chair, its vanity dresser and stool, and night-table, set between the comfortable twin beds.

Your Pillows

What do you know of the pillows you sleep in? Almost a third of your life is spent in bed—and the pillow should be comfortable and sanitary, as well as covered with attractive tick. You should choose a pillow which is honestly stuffed—it will hold its shape and not get lumpy nor leak.

J. A. LIGHT ONE OF PIONEERS HERE

Twenty Years of Activity In Roofing Business, He Gives Expert Aid

A forty-year residence in Glendale has afforded J. A. Light of 533 West Oak street the opportunity for witnessing the roofing of every house and building in Glendale, which is a real interesting experience to add to his twenty years of activity in the roofing business and two years as owner of the Glendale Roofing company. Mr. Light's family came to Glendale when the present business section was covered with sage brush and cactus and inhabited by jack rabbits and quail. It is that landscape that he has seen transformed into "the fastest growing city of its size in the United States."

The building game is the most spirited part of a city's development, particularly for those who have grown up with the town, so no wonder Mr. Light stayed with the roofing business until today he has a well-established business at 533 West Oak street, where he takes contracts for new composition roofs, old roofs rebuilt and repaired and also shingling.

Limes, garlic, cactus and vanilla beans are included in the northbound border traffic.

Each day one gains an appreciation of the wide scope of service of the Pendroy Department store at Brand boulevard and Colorado street, and when one is talking homes one should know of Pendroy's rug and furniture and drapery departments on the third floor of the Pendroy building.

In the rug department one can find Whittall and Anglo Persian rugs of pleasing colors and designs, over-stuffed furniture and linoleum in inlaid and printed design. A special feature of the department is expert assistance in properly laying floor coverings.

Rack for Kitchen

For a convenient kitchen, a rack which contains the spoons, forks and other utensils for mixing is very convenient when placed just above the work table. You can tell at a glance just where the egg-beater and potato-masher are and it saves time and labor to have just right at hand.

C. R. COLBURN IS BUILDING HOMES

Constructing Nine Houses and Also One-Story Store at Present, He States

C. R. Colburn of 408 West Hawthorne street is one of the general building contractors that have been actively participating in Glendale's progressive building program of the past two years.

Mr. Colburn came to Glendale two years ago and has experienced most gratifying success in his business. At present he is constructing nine houses and a one-story store building at Casa Verdugo for J. P. Burris.

Mr. Colburn's message to his patrons and friends is "See me before building, which will mean satisfactory service."

Reed Novelties

Among the novelties in reed furniture are a half oval end table that fits in beside davenport or chair and a magazine stand with upper truck and lower shelf. Both are useful in sitting-room or porch.

An immigration supervisor's report shows that in six months 56,280 aliens and 7725 Americans passed into Mexico by way of Laredo.

ARTISTIC SITE ON WHICH TO BUILD

Ivanhoe Hills Tract Gives a Number of Advantages to Home Seekers

"A comprehensive building program for Ivanhoe Hills is now in progress," said James Clune, sales manager of the Ivanhoe Hills tract, "and so many prospective home owners are taking advantage of the free services of our own architect and landscape artists that our tract will soon see the most desirable homes going up in the highest class restricted community between Glendale and Los Angeles."

"The high ground with the mountains to the north and Silver Lake right at our side will attract the seeker of quietude and comfort as well as charming surroundings. The demand for the large lots we are offering is growing from day to day, and it only goes to show that building sites of this type and in this district are what the people want."

Expert Gives Aid

"In order to make Ivanhoe Hills the most attractive and artistic place we can conceive, with regards to lay-out of buildings, trees, walks and shrubbery, we have secured the services of Geo. Hockinsmith, one of the best known architects, or rather, building engineers, in Los Angeles, and his advice and help are offered to those who want the best."

"If you stop and consider a moment that Ivanhoe Hills is the only tract of its kind between Glendale and Los Angeles, situated so beautifully as it is, on what we might say, practically, is the intersection of Glendale and Rowena boulevards, and yet within fifteen minutes' drive from the downtown district of Los Angeles, you can readily see that it is a part of Los Angeles and right close to Glendale, benefiting by the nearness to both places, and yet a distinct residential section by itself. So many people want the quiet of the suburbs, yet do not wish to get too far away from business, and therefore Ivanhoe Hills is often referred to as the ideal home place."

Glassware Attractive

The sparkling charm of glassware lends a delightful atmosphere to table service. Glass goblets and bowls in slender-footed types are specially attractive for the service of grape juice, cool drinks and fruit, and while the heavier forms of cut glass have passed from fashion, there is something very attractive in the use of etched and thinly-cut glass.

From July, 1920, to January, 1921, $4,864,920 worth of merchandise went into Mexico through the Twenty-third customs district.

FAIRVIEW TRACT LOTS IN DEMAND

Hamlin & Hepburn Sell Close to 100 Acres; Secret Is Reasonable Prices

Hamlin & Hepburn, subdividers of Fairview, report that the tenth unit of their subdivision is more than half sold. The remaining lots, considering that they are all full width and exceptionally deep, are remarkably good buys, they state.

The whole territory of northwest Glendale is developing with remarkable rapidity. Development work is constantly going on. One of the recent gas mains to be arranged for is about 2000 feet in all, part on Glenwood Road and also north on Elm and south of Spazier street. Another extension is on Thompson avenue in the block between Glenwood Road and Kenneth Road.

With the sale of the remaining lots in the tenth unit, this will complete a full 100 acres which have been subdivided and sold by Hamlin & Hepburn in this subdivision during the last fourteen months. When the subdivision was started it would have been hard to conceive that within a year all of this territory would be sold in toto, and now less to conceive that homes would be built on it, and that it would be housing a considerable population.

The secret of Hamlin & Hepburn's success has undoubtedly been due to the reasonable price which they have always maintained and the exceptionally easy terms, both of these factors being for the purpose of carrying out their idea of assisting people who have heretofore always paid rent, to acquire homes of their own. To be sure, it is some satisfaction to have successfully subdivided 100 acres of land, but it is a greater satisfaction, Hamlin & Hepburn say, to have given hundreds of people opportunity to get a start with a home.

FAIRVIEW NEWS

A new store is being erected on the tract on Fourth street, adjacent to the corner of Allen avenue. Mrs. Jenkins, who is building this store, plans to make it a modern up-to-date mercantile establishment.

The Backus grocery store at the corner of Fourth and Western on Fairview Tract, is doing a fine business and are advertising a big sale for the last three days of this week.

All of the kiddies in the Fairview tract, appreciate the new Grand View grammar school, being so close that it is an easy walk and not being crowded like some of the other Glendale schools at the present time.

Desk Sergeant Andy Kerns of the police department recently entertained friends from Hollywood who were so enthusiastic about Fairview that they bought a lot and have a home nearly completed.

Henry Weger of the Glendale postoffice is building a very attractive five-room residence on Glenwood Road.

Charles Hubbard of the technical department of the Universal Film company of Universal City has just completed an attractive home on Glenwood Road near Raymond.

J. W. Hart has just completed two houses on Linden avenue and sold them and has now started on the third.

Vernon A. Cook of the Glendale public service department has his home on Linden avenue nearly completed.

ART REED SHOP IS AID TO HOME

Phil D. Molen Has Various Unique Designs to Offer
Holiday Shoppers

Out at 417 East Broadway there's a little shop that Glendale shoppers would do well to consider and that's Phil D. Molen's art reed shop.

Mr. Molen came to Glendale last July from Santa Barbara, where he spent several years handling reed and rattan furniture for residents of Montecito and Santa Barbara.

Here Mr. Molen is specializing in designs to suit his customers and in addition to his furniture work he has a wonderful assortment of baskets of all kinds, shapes and sizes.

He is working on specialty juvenile furniture and these with his baskets and other pieces afford splendid selections for the holiday shopper.

HANGINGS DEFY SUN

The day is past when shades had to be carefully lowered and the rooms kept darkened to preserve the colors of draperies. Today the hangings offered are sun-proof and their lovely colors and designs are impervious to light and to the exigencies of the laundry. They continue as fresh-looking as when first hung, and are a constant joy because of the brightness and stability of their appearance.

In Paraguay the women outnumber the men by about five to one.

Business Men Help In Home Ownership

Back of the homes of our nation is the solid support, endorsement and recommendation of every progressive business interest. Daily your attention is called to housing projects fostered and backed by manufacturing enterprises of insurance companies who are making available millions of dollars for the building of new homes. On every hand assistance is offered you to become a home owner, and right here we are going to ask the question—

Do you own your own home? If not, why not?

You cannot longer deny that to own your own home is both a community and a personal asset. It is the badge of citizenship, community interest, stability, thrift and happiness. Just as owning your home is an asset, so is to rent a liability in the eyes of the world. This is a sign of shiftlessness, waste and lack of interest in domestic or civic progress.

Business men are interesting themselves in home lives of their employees. They appreciate fully that those who are acquiring or who own their own homes are the most reliable, dependable and efficient, and because of these facts are investing their surplus money in mortgages and buying building and loan shares, that the largest possible number of homes may be built.

The business men recommend that you buy or build a home and with every needed assistance ready and willing to help you there are no good reasons why you should not realize this the greatest of earthly possessions—the ownership of a home.

A home is the bright, blessed, adorable phantom which sets highest on the sunny horizon that girdeth life. When shall it be reached? When shall it cease to be a glittering day-dream and become fully and fairly yours?

Awarded Prize for Best Climbing Rose

Portland, which of all our cities seems to be the most enthusiastic about roses, is awarding its gold and silver medal for the best new climbing rose and the best new rose produced by an amateur to George C. Thomas, for his new climbing rose Mrs. George C. Thomas. This new rose, which was shown in the 1920 rose annual, is the result of ten years of effort by Captain George Thomas of Philadelphia to produce an ever-blooming climbing rose, and its record under the Portland test evidences his success. The new rose, planted in the international rose test gardens in Portland, blossomed from May until October, produced during that period over 400 blooms and scored the highest of all roses tested in 1921.

Best way to keep a secret is not to let anyone tell you one. Don't pry.

HART REALTY CO. SHOWS INCREASE

Insurance Department Is in Charge of Two Experts of Wide Experience

James H. Garnsey and L. A. Hart are two of Glendale's most successful insurance men, with offices located at the Hart Realty Company's office at 113 East Broadway. The insurance business is carried on in connection with the Hart Realty business and every line of insurance underwriting is being taken up.

Mr. Garnsey came to Glendale three years ago from Kansas City, Mo., and has had wide experience in the insurance game, which qualifies him well for giving Glendale people perfect and satisfactory service.

Bedding Innovations Are Being Offered

No longer need we stick to heavy white bedspreads hard to launder, and often depressingly hotel-like in appearance. Now one may use the lighter, crinkly fabrics for spreads; one may try colored crepes, linen fabrics, gay cretonnes, heavier reps and poplins, or luxurious taffetas and exquisite lace. For the porch beds there are serviceable colored spreads shown and many variations of the old bed coverings which are a distinct addition to the bedroom furnishings.

To make good citizens, begin at the age of 6—or earlier.

EVERY ELECTRIC PROBLEM SOLVED

Glendale Electric Company's Departments Offer Aid in Making Homes

Electrically speaking, the Glendale Electric Company's shop at 132 North Brand boulevard affords the prospective builder or home owner everything for fitting out and furnishing the home.

Of course the first electric problem of the home is correct and satisfactory wiring, then comes the fixture question and after that the choice of modern electrical appliances.

The Glendale Electric Company is prepared to answer all these with expert service and a stock of the most artistic and latest in fixtures and electric labor saving devices.

One of the valuable features of the company's fixture department is the designing and making of special fixtures to meet the ideas of patrons.

In the appliance department one finds all sorts of gift ideas for the holiday time, the most attractive being electric fireless cookers, heaters, stoves, automatic ironers, washing machines and toasters.

Frame Portraits
When one is fortunate enough to own old portraits, it should be suitably framed, then flanked with mirror sashes with branches fitted with electric lights. Even a modern portrait, charmingly framed, can win a place of esteem with such friendly lights on either side.

Home Has Influence Stronger Than Death

Makes no difference where you roam—There's no other place in this world Like home, home, sweet, sweet home.

When we reflect upon the simplicity of this song, we are ready to ask—what are the charms that lie concealed in it? That brings tears to the weary and homeless, and touch the hearts of the poor and rich alike?

The magical word "Home" associated with the strains of music invariably weaken the boldest and most daring criminals. Home—that name touches every fiber of the soul and strikes every cord of the human heart with its angelic fingers. Nothing but death can break its spell. What tender associations are linked with home! What pleasing images and deep emotions it awakens! It calls up the fondest memories of life and opens in our nature the purest, deepest, richest flow of consecrated thought and feeling.

Home is the magic circle within which the weary spirit finds refuge; it is the sacred spot to which the care-worn heart retreats to find rest from the toils and iniquities of life. Ask the lone wanderer as he plods his tedious way, bent with the weight of age, and white with the frost of years, ask him what home is. He will tell you, "It is a green spot in the desert; it is a center about which the fondest recollections of a grief-oppressed heart cling with all the tenacity of youth's first love." It was once a glorious, a happy first love. It was once a glorious, a happy reality, but now it rests only as an image of the mind.

Home has an influence which is stronger than death. It is law to our hearts, and binds us with a spell which neither time nor change can break; the darkest villainies which have disgraced humanity cannot neutralize it. Ask the little child what home is. You will find that to him it is the world—he knows no other. The father's love, the mother's smile, the sister's embrace, the brother's welcome, throw about his home a heavenly halo, and make it as attractive to him as the home of the angels. Home is the spot where childhood pours out all its complaints and sorrows, and home is the place where these are soothed and banished by the sweet lullaby of a fond mother.

Can you, who are not proud possessors of your home, read this without vowing to start to-day realizing the greatest of all happiness—Home. Ownership? And those of you who have homes of your own will want to make some improvements to beautify and make more dear that place that means so much to each and every one of us—HOME!

Articles for House Always Acceptable

To choose a gift is a pleasurable duty mingled with a certain amount of anxiety, for at all times the taste of the recipient must be considered, the appropriateness of the occasion, and, ordinarily, the amount of money to be spent for such a purpose.

Why not one of the innumerable lovely things for the home? There are the bits of pottery which hold bright blossoms and feathery autumnal sprays—delightful blue from Holland, unique Newcomb from New Orleans or sparkling glass from Bohemia.

OFFER TO ASSIST HOME GARDENING

Downing & Cox Help People to Improve Property by Planting in Season

House and garden are two words that are so closely associated that one can scarcely visualize the former without picturing an ideal surrounding of flowers and shrubbery. However unassuming the home always has a garden and R. E. Downing and T. M. Cox, horticulturalists, of 118 South Brand boulevard are ready to assist Glendaleans in planning their gardens, both as to arrangement and plants and trees adapted to the soil and climate.

So successful have they been in their landscape gardening and handling of trees, shrubs, seeds, fertilizer and insecticides that they have opened a branch office at 1020 East San Fernando Road, Burbank. There they have two acres of ground to be divided as a sales yard and growing ground.

Offers Information
In discussing the plan Mr. Downing offers the following information of interest to home gardeners:

Flowers, known as annuals, to be planted now by seed and to bloom in the late winter are: Sweetpeas, stalks, snapdragons, calendulas, centaurea, African daisy, bachelor buttons, poppies and wild flowers.

Flowers, known as perennials, to be planted by plants and to bloom in the early spring are:

Penstemon, marguerites, carnations, agatheas, wallflowers, Canterbury bells, fox glove, coreopsis, columbine and larkspur.

Bulbs to plant now and to bloom in the early spring are hyacinths, tulips, narcissus, anemones, ranunculus, fresias, oxalis, jonquils, Spanish iris and baby gladioli.

Hints to Gardeners

Shrubs and ornamental trees to plant now:

Evergreens, pine, acacia, cedrus, junipers, crataegus, cotoneaster, coprosma, myrtle and euonymus.

As for the fruits to plant now, there are all citrus trees and ornamental palms. The deciduous trees should be planted later in January or February.

All roses and flowering shrubs may be planted now to bloom in the spring.

Own Home Protects When Old Age Comes

What do you fear most as you peer into the future? What is your greatest anxiety in regard to your family?

Almost everyone will answer, "Old age and adversity." They are the arch enemies of mankind. And yet old age should be the most glorious time of life. After the hard struggles of many years are ended, there should be a sunset season when men and women can enjoy the fruits of their labors.

There is one sure course which will bring peace and contentment in old age and will put you beyond the reach of these specters which haunt us, both waking and sleeping—own your own home.

You may not be thinking much of it now. You may prefer to live up to your income by indulging in unnecessary pleasures and purchases. You may be "waiting till you can get a start and accumulate some ready cash." But this is fallacious reasoning. Your best start in life is the purchase of a lot and—later, if unable to do so at the time—the erection of a home. Even to the young man, with no family ties, this is the safest course. Land never takes wings and flies away. A house may burn down, but, if properly insured, this is only a partial loss and does not leave the owner "flat."

But to the man or woman who is not a home owner, when adversity comes there is no recourse but the poorhouse or the charity of relatives or governmental authorities.

Just think of what it means to possess and live in your own home! Around you are seen the victims of old age where thrift has not been practiced in younger life—but you are safe. Around you dash the waves of adversity, carrying down to ruin thousands of improvident ones—but you are beyond their reach.

Your children and your children's children call your home theirs. It is a happy retreat for the child in school and the strong son or daughter in business. It is a welcome haven for friends who may not be so fortunate as you. It is a tower of strength to the mind. It is a rock which all the billows of old age and adversity can not move.

Make this assurance yours at once. Buy a lot and build your own home—or, if you prefer, purchase one already built. At least make a start today. You will find many who will aid your endeavor if it be along this constructive line. You owe it to your loved ones and to yourself.

Kitchens Can Have Jaunty Appearance

Among the most useful and jaunty things in the kitchen and butler's pantry are those made of japanned ware, which is but painted tin, in most cases. There are bread and cake boxes, with or without shelves, or sliding doors, as you may elect, and whose pretty color schemes add to the pleasure of possessing them. Besides which, they are easy to keep clean. Tin trays in all sizes and styles are of great value in the serving of meals.

Little Fire Danger in Electric Service

Relatively few fires are in any way attributable to the use of electric service—not more than one in forty, but all fires of electrical origin can be classified into three general and well-defined groups:

(1) Fires due to circumstances which at present seem unavoidable, over which neither the purveyor of electric service or the user of the service has any control, such as fires due to buildings being struck by lightning, static disturbances and accidents which defy ordinary preventive measures.

(2) Fires due to installation faults for which the distributors of electric service and others engaged in providing the public with means for utilizing electric service are responsible.

(3) Fires due to the abuse of electric service by those who use it. Based upon such classification, a recent investigation of several hundred fires of proven electrical origin shows that since the fiscal year ending June, 1917, the proportion of fires of electrical origin attributable to causes as yet beyond control has not varied from year to year to any great extent. Fires due to installation faults, which can be laid to errors due to ignorance or carelessness on the part of the electrical industry, have shown a gratifying tendency toward a consistent and marked decrease, but the fires due to abuse of electric service have shown an increase of 40 per cent.

The Fly Is Your Enemy Keep Him Out

The filthy fly is a source of much distress and disease that might be easily avoided. Screen your house thoroughly and see that the screens are kept in good repair. This precaution will keep your home in a sanitary condition, your family's health unmolessted and rid you of the eternal nuisance of swatting the pest.

Merit Screens will effectively prevent the fly from intruding into the privacy of your home.

Consult our Cost Department about screening your home. Add another room to the house by having a porch screened and use as a sleeping porch or sun parlor. All modern houses are equipped with both.

The cost of screening is comparatively small, especially when the safety and convenience are considered. You owe it to your family to protect them from the fly.

Merit Screens are made better, look better and wear better than other screens, and, best of all, they cost no more.

Ivanhoe Hills

Home Making and Profit Taking

A man buys a lot and builds a home with two objectives: Enjoyment and investment. Usually the first is paramount. Who does not consider the possibilities of an increase in value of real estate property?

A lot and a home at Ivanhoe Hills will have a surprising increase in real estate value over the original expenditure. The resale opportunities are as great here as the opportunity to build a beautiful home. And for a beautiful home place, Ivanhoe Hills is hard to equal. Proven restrictions will keep it a highly desirable residential section.

Ivanhoe Hills presents a commanding view of mountains, lake and city. Situated at the intersection of Glendale and Rowena Boulevards, it is one of Nature's most attractive spots. With Glendale Boulevard winding its way through the property, great things may be expected from this tract. Improvements are going in daily and this tract has attracted more favorable attention from home seekers and investors than any previous real estate offer in this vicinity. We have an unusual financing plan for those who wish to build at once. Large lots attractively located can be had from $1000 up. Terms are reasonable.

Ivanhoe Hills is easy to reach from Glendale. But a few minutes ride from Glendale on your way to Los Angeles, at Glendale and Rowena Boulevards, and you are at Ivanhoe Hills. Thousands of cars pass here daily and, while traffic is good along Glendale Boulevard, the placid waters of Silver Lake on the other side of the gently sloping hills furnish a most idyllic atmosphere that gives Ivanhoe Hills such charm.

L. CLINE ACTIVE AMONG BUILDERS

Constructing Number of Fine Homes; Completes Residence for J. Smith

Indications of gratifying activity in the building game are seen in the work done and under construction by L. Cline, contractor and builder, of 436 West Wilson avenue.

At present Mr. Cline has under construction two fine homes at 1440 and 1444 Dorothy drive for Burson & Cline; four homes on West Garfield avenue for Burson & Cline.

Mr. Cline has just completed a $10,000 residence for Jesse Smith, local Ford agent, on North Central avenue, just above Doran street, and a four-family flat building at 3207 West Colorado for Mary E. Beal, and a six-room $11,000 Spanish home in Eagle Rock for A. H. Leland.

W. C. PAGE STOCK HIGH CLASS LINE

Wide Choice in Style and Price Is Being Offered to Buyers Here

Occupying the largest building of any of Glendale's furniture stores, the W. C. Page company, at 306 East Broadway, offers the furniture buyers a wide range both as to choice and price.

The Page stock represents all eastern high grade lines and includes Whittall and other lines of rugs, floor and bridge lamps, torchieres, cedar chests, smoking stands, stoves and furniture of all types adaptable for practical and artistic use in any type of home.

Real Convenience
A stool in the kitchen is a convenience little appreciated by the average housekeeper. It may be fastened to table or cabinet, and swing out of sight when not in use, or, if it has legs instead of the brackets supposed above, it may be placed out of the way beneath the sink when not needed.

Save Surface, Save All, Is Good Slogan

For some years the popular slogan has been "save the surface and you save all," and there is sound logic behind it. A house which is painted from time to time presents an impervious front to weather changes, and the material from which it is made does not have the weather elements to contend with.

Quite aside from the saving qualities of paint, there is the question of looks. A home newly painted presents a pristine freshness and cleanliness not equalled by any other form of improvement. And what is more, a fresh coat of paint fairly calls for other things which make for improvement, just as when one washes one's face, one's untidy hair and disordered dress demand attention to be in keeping.

Thus the newly painted house scorns an unkempt yard and ragged hedge; it demands attention to walks and fences or gardens or outbuildings, and the standard thus unconsciously set makes the houses next door, and on down the street, consider the question of painting or freshening, so that there is a sort of moral wave of improvement on the block.

Yours may be a good home already, but this is the time to make it a better one. The coat of paint will assist materially. A house which is shabby and faded has an air of drooping self-respect, and it positively chirps up the morale of those who pass by it, as well as those who live within, when it is brightened up.

Maybe you have tired of the color scheme you chose first, and this time you want a gray house with buff trimmings, or a white one with green. Perhaps you have passed and admired a house of brown, which seemed part of its setting of trees, or maybe there is some other scheme or combination in your mind you've long wanted to try out. Consult a painter; he will advise you cheerfully; call at the paint store, and look over the color charts there. Then have your beauty of the street!

Woven Furniture
Wonderfully attractive woven furniture painted in the gayest colors and combinations of colors is now temptingly displayed. For the sun parlor or the porch it is enticing and it is not out of place in any room but the most formal.

Large rugs for large rooms are all right, but frequently several small ones will furnish your room equally well if not much better. In case you are not located permanently it is usually better not to have a very large rug.

PAINTS FOR ALL USES ARE CARRIED

L. H. Allison Store Also Has Varnishes and Wall Paper to Improve Homes

"Paints, oils, varnishes or wall paper," is the greeting L. H. Allison of 105-107 West Broadway has for Glendale home owners.

Paints for all interior and exterior uses may be found at the Allison store, and in addition to selling their patrons the paint, the Allison people contract for the painting work.

Their stock includes wall paper, floor wax, varnish, stain, automobile paint, brushes, art work powder paints and a special cleaner for woodwork and other materials.

Casement Windows Take Decorations

Where there are casement windows, there are lovely ways of draping them. Vivid figured silks, with plain silk radium for the folds at top and bottom, are lovely and the inside curtains may be made of white material with tiny ruffles of the radium silk to match. It was at a local studio that I saw a novel iron grill which held the curtains in place at top, and yet was hinged so as to swing out with the folds, clear from the window when it was to be raised, lowered or otherwise manipulated. This is a most ingenious and decorative plan and the graceful design of the wrought iron grill work was especially charming.

The use of gold braid, zailoon and other binds and handings on jasper satin and other soft draperies is effective and popular. It is a pretty custom to have the same vivid touch of color in the draperies that may be echoed in various points of the room—the orange or jade bowl or bit of pottery—the lamp-shade, candle-shield, or bright cushion on the couch or chaise-longue.

Scalloping, shirring and ruffling may be employed in the bedroom window curtains with excellent effect. Smart little sprigged paterias are among the new ones seen downtown in chintz or cretonne, and are especially good on so-called cottage or bungalow windows. There are printed or checked designs and dotted muslins, Swisses, serin and printed crepe.

REALTY FIRM IS ACTIVE ON DEALS

Usilton & Benner Joins City's Newest Firms; One Member Is Pioneer

Usilton & Benner, realtors, with offices at 201 North Brand boulevard, is one of Glendale's newest and busiest realty firms.

J. W. Usilton of the firm has lived in Glendale for sixteen years, while Hal H. Benner, formerly of Los Angeles, has been in the realty game in southern California for ten years.

They make a specialty of business and residence properties and exchanges.

Bathroom Should Be Modernly Equipped

It is surprising how equally a family will live in a home in which the bathroom equipment is out-of-date and inconvenient, with never a thought to their improvement. Some people seem to have the idea that such things are immovable. Once installed, they are there for life, and if these were already in the house when it was purchased, they may sigh at the inconvenience and ugliness of lavatory and tub, but never think of having them changed.

There have been strides made in such fixtures just as there have been in a dozen other lines of household equipment in the past year or so, and the home-maker may choose the type, and better still, the very size which fits individual needs now, as never before. Sometimes the bathroom is unusually small, yet the householder desires the fixtures and equipment to be of the best types. There are shapes and forms of tubs and lavatories which take very little room, and which may be fitted into the odd-shaped corners with saving of space. There are the types of tubs which have no legs or supports, and which therefore cannot accumulate dust under them.

There are others which may fit against the wall, or out from the wall, according to the housewife's idea of which is the most convenient to keep clean. There are also showers, plunges and forms of tubs which offer the same advantage that those at club, or in bathing establishments do, on a scale which makes them possible in the home.

C. M. BRIGGS IS ACTIVE BUILDER

Construction Work in Less Than Year Reaches Total Sum of $80,000

A record of $80,000 worth of construction work since Christmas is claimed by C. M. Briggs, contractor and builder, of 632 West Alexander street. Mr. Briggs was engaged in the contracting business in Los Angeles for thirteen years, coming to Glendale two years ago, and his record for the present year is indicative of his local success.

He has just completed a one-story, three-store brick building at Central avenue and Broadway, for Mrs. Stella Sherman, of 341 West Broadway, and a one-story stucco business block at Lomita and Central avenues for J. H. Sherman of 342 West Broadway.

He has under construction two houses on West Alexander street for Ed Turner of 118 East Park avenue; a stucco house on East Raleigh for L. O. Kittridge, and a frame house on East Raleigh for Martin Manning.

Nurseryman Assist In Home Beautiful

It is said that there is only one thing that can produce a fine old tree, and that is time. But in California our nurserymen have devoted years to ascertaining what will hasten the growth of the trees, shrubs, vines and flowers which should surround our homes. They have accomplished miracles which make Father Time sit up and rub his eyes. If you are in a hurry to have your grounds improved, or your old ones done over, visit a nursery, and study the kinds of plants that flourish here. Then start them! Nothing is more satisfactory than the growing of your own fruit trees and palms and vines and flowers. And it is one of the marks of a distinctly better home to do so.

Flowers Glorify

In the Japanese shops one may find the tiny teakwood stands for vases and their smaller imitations, which add double attraction to the vase standing thereupon. Choose an amber glass bowl for such a stand, and fill it with purple iris and mimosa. The effect, against a neutral wall is exquisite.

HOUSE PLANNING REAL PLEASURE

Glendale Builders' Material Exhibit Proves Benefit In Construction

House planning is made an attractive pleasure after the prospective builder has visited the Glendale Builders' material exhibit, conducted by H. D. Charlton and C. H. Brainard, architects, in the Central building at 111 East Broadway.

The exhibit is under the supervision of Emma J. Brainard and represents almost entirely products of Glendale firms.

One may enter the door of the exhibit with simply a desire for a new house and when he leaves he can have a practical and artistic house design in his hand and his mind full of clever ideas for exterior and interior finishings.

In addition to assisting the home builder the exhibit is of real educational value and instructs old and young in what modern building accomplishes.

SEE FUTURE FOR INSURANCE FIRM

Three Former Residents of State of Kansas Now In Business Here

J. W. Knight, J. W. Lewis and D. E. Forsythe, insurance men with offices at 226 South Brand boulevard, are enrolled among Glendale's most active and enthusiastic business men.

All three of them came from the Sunflower state, Kansas, where they lived practically all their lives until coming to Glendale a few months ago.

"We like Glendale and intend to locate here permanently," said one of them, "and as our acquaintanceship increases our business will increase according and we anticipate real future success."

Consular Agent Gorman, located at Laredo, Tex., which he calls the "gateway of Mexico," includes interesting facts in a recent consular report.

RUSSELL - PIERCE FURNITURE WINS

Company Makes Own Product and Is Able to Sell at Low Prices

"More people in Glendale are beginning to realize that they can buy furniture at home and save money," remarked Ralph Pierce, at 1529 South San Fernando road, in the salesroom and factory of the Russell-Pierce Furniture company.

Because of the fact that this company manufactures its own furniture and has much lower rent and overhead expenses than big furniture stores in Los Angeles, it believes that it can sell furniture about one-third cheaper than they do for the same quality of furniture.

"We invite shoppers to come down here and make comparisons," remarked Mr. Pierce. "We know that anyone who will come the few blocks extra involved in a trip down here will be more than repaid."

The Russell-Pierce Furniture company is doing its part in the upbuilding of Glendale. It has been making steady progress ever since its establishment here, and its product is in a number of Glendale homes, as well as in those throughout the southland.

Many Glendale people know that the company is prepared to supply quality furniture at very reasonable prices, and that the concern invites an inspection and comparison.

Phonograph Keeps Family Informed

The pages of musical history are constantly turning these days, and to keep pace with them, the household should certainly be conversant with the musical events of the day. By means of a phonograph and well-chosen records, the family may be musically informed, just as magazines and newspapers bring current events to them.

By the same token, there is an investment of genuine pleasure in the ownership of such an instrument which is all out of proportion with the money necessary.

Rugs of Durability
Round or oval rugs hand-branded from soft-toned new materials are obtainable at remarkably small cost, considering the long wearing qualities and the beauty of design.

Table Decorations Interesting Women

The question of table decorations and table service is one most housewives find of interest. Especially is this true at the present time, when informality and originality are the order of the day. Time was when rigid rules governed such matters as laying the table and serving the dinner even at informal affairs, but here, as elsewhere, we find individual taste or whim, convenience, economy or other factor introducing changes.

For instance, take the question of table linen. No longer does the white damask cloth, with its accompaniment of stiff and shining napkins, appear at every meal. The breakfast room and the breakfast nook have done much to change this. Here we find gayly painted furniture and colorful decorations, all with such an air of informality that anything else becomes out of place.

Hence, new ideas have been welcomed, until instead of the once standardized tablecloth we find a wonderful variety of covers. The materials from which one may select are many, ranging from the plain unbleached cotton or cotton crash to the finest and most expensive embroidered linens. In between are such materials as colored linens, printed linens, cretonnes, plain suiting linen, figured or plain Japanese crepe or strips of toweling fastened together. These may be fashioned into cloths covering the table and hanging over in the standard way. But such cloths, no small item in the laundry bill, are by no means preferred. For breakfast and lunch and even for the informal family dinner cloths that leave the table partly uncovered are the usual thing.

In many homes the convenience and the attractive appearance of table runners or of centerpieces with doilies have long been recognized. The table runner shows a pleasing variety in size and shape as well as in material. While the two runners crossed have advantages, especially if the table is to be laid for four persons, there is an undeniable air of stiffness about these. Better is a luncheon cloth made in the shape of a Greek cross, with the ends falling over the table or not as preferred. The single runner is in high favor. This may be quite narrow or it may expand into a cloth almost as wide as the table itself. Truncated, it becomes a centerpiece, which, again, frequently shrinks into very small proportions. With the wide runner, plate doilies are not needed, while they are with the narrow runner, unless only two places are laid.

Awnings and Shades Attractive Features

From the decorative standpoint, awnings have become a necessary part of many of our new houses, especially those of Spanish type. California's roofs are gradually turning into canvas. From the artistic point of view the consideration of color is most important. The most successful awnings blend with the color of the house rather than form too great a contrast with it. In those in which there are stripes of two colors, one of the colors should blend with the general color scheme of the house.

Awnings should appear to be a part of the house, architecturally and not be the only part of it that is noticed. They are used as protections over windows and doors, as roller shades around porches and as roofs.

Many porches are so shallow that the roof gives very little protection against sun or rain. From the edge of the roof a piece of awning canvas may be extended several feet, on a sufficient slant to give protection. This increases the size of the porch because so much more of it can be used. Awning canvas comes in stripes or in plain colors with a border painted on or woven into it.

Complete canvas roofs may be put over porches otherwise of very little use; or if there is no porch at all, an awning may be fastened to the side of the house and extend over a portion of the lawn. In this way an awning porch may be built on for the summer only and be folded up and put away in the winter.

Most awnings are finished on the edge with a hem or are bound with some suitable material but a very good way to finish those on small porches, is to sew to the lower end a two-inch fringe strip. The width of the colored stripe must be determined by the general plan of the house and the form of the decorations. If the general style and trimming of the house are delicate, a plain awning with a narrow border or one with narrow stripes should be used. Large formal houses are the only ones that can stand wide and exceedingly bright stripes.

Porch shades are made of a variety of materials, split bamboo, split reed and narrow wooden slats. These are finished in green, brown and mahogany. They come in any length and in widths up to twenty feet, so it is well when building a house, to have the pillars close enough together so that a screen may be placed between them. Awning material on a roller can be used in the same way.

Fireplaces Require Spark Protection

Fire screens, spark guards and fireplace screens may be purchased in correct designs, their well-placed ornamentation and attractive finish making them positive additions to the room instead of necessary, but homely fixtures. They insure perfect safety from flying sparks, and absolute protection to the children.

J. S. SCHULTZ HAS CREATIVE TALENT

Artist Does Some Fine Work at Cadillac Salesrooms; Clever at Designing

A wonderfully fine modern motor car, with attractive California homes and formal gardens in the background is the scene presented at the Cadillac agency show rooms at 228 South Brand boulevard, where J. S. Schultz, artist, of 190 South Cedar street, has done some exceptionally artistic pieces of mural painting.

Mr. Schultz had a most clever inspiration for his decoration of the show room. On both the north and south sides of the wall he has made continuous paintings of palatial California homes and formal gardens, seen through large archways. The two homes and surroundings are most convincing, both as to perspective and artistic effect and coloring, while the arch idea developed by Mr. Schultz as sort of frames for the pictures, create the appearance of massive supports for the roof of the room.

Novel Display Room
On the back wall of the room Mr. Schultz is going to work out a conventional design about the Cadillac coat of arms.

The murals in the room have made it distinctive among novel automobile display rooms, and it has received wide recognition.

Mr. Schultz does designing and painting, ecclesiastical paintings, mural decorations and over mantel pictures.

OFFER COMPLETE FURNITURE STOCK

Grossman-Miller Store Has Large Line From Which to Make Selections

There are many answers to the furnishing question to be found at the Grossman-Miller Furniture store, at 246 North Brand boulevard, at the corner of California avenue.

"We pride ourselves on a most complete stock," says Mr. Grossman. "We've been in business almost a year and the wide line of goods we are handling gives us confidence to make that assertion."

"It is useless to itemize our stock, for we have everything in the furniture line. What we want Glendale people to do is to visit our store and see for themselves."

"Of interest at the holiday time are the juvenile goods and gift furniture, and with regard to this I want to announce that we welcome selections of holiday gifts, which we will hold for delivery on Christmas."

NORTHEAST BUSY IN DEVELOPMENT

New Residential District Is Under Way; Tract Will Get Improvements

The development of a new residential district in the northeast section of the city is seen in the closing of a realty deal closed on Tuesday whereby Wright & Hogan of Hollywood and E. E. Brown of Eagle Rock became owners of the five acre tract located west of Verdugo road, between East Broadway and East Wilson avenue.

Mrs. Mabel L. Tight of 612 East Broadway and William H. Mills of 805 East Wilson avenue transacted the deal.

The purchasers of the tract intend to construct a first class street across the property and subdivide the entire property into highly restricted residential lots. Several up-to-date residences will be erected by the owners and the remaining lots will be available to those contemplating the construction of their own homes in the vicinity of the proposed new Glendale Union high school.

As a result of Prince Hirohito's visit to Europe, publication of photographs of the imperial Japanese family in newspapers and magazines will be permitted.

Some Difference in Handling of Work

There is some difference in the matter of handling new work and old work. It is well to study this thoroughly and to accept established rules that are bound to bring good results.

For new work the method is as follows: First or priming coat, for close-grained, non-absorbent woods, thin with equal parts linseed oil and turpentine. For soft, open-grained woods, like white pine and poplar, thin with three parts oil and one part turpentine. Hard or yellow pine, cypress, Norway pine and other resinous woods, also all green lumber, should be well seasoned before painting. For such lumber, thin with one part oil and three parts turpentine. Brush this coat in thoroughly to insure good penetration. Second coat: Thin with two parts raw linseed oil and one part turpentine. Brush out well. Third or final coat: Apply the paint as found in the package, except where conditions warrant the use of a little turpentine or linseed oil.

For old work—First coat: Thin with two parts raw linseed oil and one part turpentine. For surfaces which are very old and spongy, more oil is required, and for surfaces that are unusually hard and non-absorbent, more turpentine should be used. Second coat: Apply the paint as found in the package, except where conditions warrant the use of a little turpentine or linseed oil.

Absence makes the heart grow fonder of absence.

COSY CURTAINS DISPEL GLOOMS

Hanging Take Away Feeling of Boreness; Choice of Draperies Varies

During the summer months one leaves one's windows more or less bare that the breezes may sweep through the house, but now that autumn is at hand, there is nothing that makes more for cheeriness within than cosy draperies.

By "cosy" one does not necessarily mean the close-hanging, dark, smothery curtains of the mid-Victorian era, when to keep the rooms darkened was considered dignified and refined, but the hangings which take away the look of bareness from the many windows and soften the various openings between rooms.

Whether our winter rooms will be gloriously cheery or depressingly dull is largely dependent on their hangings. Hangings had their being in the days when mid-lady stayed in the castle at home, while her lord rode abroad in search of knightly adventures, or to the wars. She spent much of her time embroidering, weaving, making tapestries to cover rough, high walls, and brighten the gloom.

Few Hand-made Tapestries and hangings of today are seldom hand-made with the exception of those rich ones made abroad by patient artisans on looms of older times. In the stores today one may find copies, modern imitations and adaptations which are rich, substantial in wearing qualities, and surpassingly beautiful in fabric, design and coloring.

Is the room vaguely depressing because of the northern light or its proximity to walls or houses which are uninviting as vistas? On the linen glass curtains choose ruffling of rose or yellow orandy, full slightly, and the same cheery color predominating in figured chintz, with a binding to match.

Does the room seem devoid of color? There is vivid drapery material which will bring life and color into it, and in the different materials of chintz, cretonne, poplin, crepes, silks and the like you may find, with the help and advice of the decorator who has studied this very problem, yours will be discovered.

The dark furniture of the living or dining-room will be enhanced and the general effect lightened by the employing of autumnal colors in the draperies. Gold and orange, rich brown and deeper rose and blue or yellow may be toned and relieved with black in charming effects.

Edward Jenner, who introduced smallpox vaccination, was a poet of merit.

Information Given on Mixing Stain

It is an easy, simple matter to mix your own stain, three quarts of turpentine, one pint of raw oil, one pint of coach-Japan as a dryer. Take one pound of color ground in oil, if you wish a strong shade—a little more, mix thoroughly with coach-Japan, put it in the raw oil and turpentine and stir until completely mixed.

Colors ground in oil can be found in any paint store in pound cans. Always try out a stain on a board before applying it to the floor. Keep the stain thoroughly stirred and apply. After it has been on half an hour, rub the floor in the direction of the grain with a rag. This will bring out the grain to advantage.

After it has dried over night it is ready for a coat of varnish.

China Inexpensive

China and porcelain seem to have jumped back to pre-war prices. And the shapes and patterns seem more attractive than ever before, as a visit to the shops will prove.

In the assurance of strength there is strength, and they are the weakest, however seemingly strong, who have no faith in themselves or their power.

SERVICES RENDERED by LIFE INSURANCE

Of all teachers of thrift, life insurance is the safest and best.

It not only provides a convenient plan for saving money, but it enables a man to resist the temptation to spend what he has saved.

It safeguards the savings of people of limited means.

It makes the safest and most economical provision for the support of widows and orphans.

It makes the safest and most economical provision for the declining years of business men and self-supporting women.

It is essential for the families of salaried and professional men whose income will be cut off at their death.

It is essential for those lacking capital, who spend all their earnings to meet current expenses.

It gives a man time to accumulate capital if he lives, and provides that capital instantly if he happens to die.

It pays the current obligations of a man after his death, and provides money for the immediate needs of his family.

When payable in the form of a life income, it provides, without expense, after the death of the insured, a financial agent to safeguard the future of the beneficiary.

It drives worry and care from a man's mind. It increases his cheerfulness, and enhances his efficiency.

It strengthens a man's reputation for business judgment, efficiency, foresight and prudence.

Life insurance is in effect an "insured" savings bank account.

Life insurance safeguards business and financial transactions.

Paris Peeved Over 'French Girl' Doll

PARIS—Little dolls representing the Parisian girl and seen in the boulevard shop windows have caused a rumpus. Representative Paris societies and clubs claim "she" is not the real Parisienne. Storms of protest issue from all sides because of the frivolity of these little alabaster folk, and Americans purchase them as souvenirs of Paris.

The dolls are little plaster ladies in red pajama coats. The coat is all—and it's a small coat—or at least it would seem that it is, as it doesn't quite meet across the chest.

Bonsor asks whether the sculptor, M. Maurice Millie, does right in representing the Parisienne in this manner.

"No," says Bonsor, "these are not the real Paris girls. If the American visitor seeks a real souvenir, a real memory of our girls, let him see them as they come from their offices and shops. Let him see them as they surround the pushcarts at noon carefully selecting their midday meal. Then he will know the real Parisienne, and the plaster person with the pajama coat will be but a fantasy in his memories of Paris."

The world war lasted 1,623 days.

Plan Comprehensive Improvements at Sparr Heights

E. LE G A S S E , Landscape Engineer

The above map is indicative of the comprehensive plan that will be followed in the installation of improvements and the landscaping of Sparr Heights, the splendid 1500-acre residential tract in the northeastern section of Glendale, just recently placed upon the market by the Francis-Barnum-Walters company. This development will be carried out under the superintendence of experts and will result in a community of homes that will have no peer, it is declared. Picturing this territory when the knolls, hillsides and slopes are covered with beautiful residences and elaborately landscaped estates of the wealthy, cultured class, one can realize what an asset it will be to the city of Glendale of which it is a part. As time goes on, from Broadway, Glendale, to Broadway, Los Angeles, will be solidly built up and people who want peace and quiet will flock to such a territory as Sparr Heights for here they can enjoy the freedom of the country while still in close contact with the heart of the city.

MAKE HOME TO SUIT OWN NEEDS

Suggestions Prove of Big Value to Those Seeking Best in Houses

taken into account. The wise man and woman plan for the placing of each piece of furniture that requires wall space. Many rooms are spoiled for comfortable and artistic furnishing by the injudicious placing of windows and doors. In living rooms, space is usually left for a piano, but beyond this no piece of furniture seems to get any consideration. The awkwardness might so easily be obviated by the grouping of windows instead of scattering them, and doors might be placed in corners instead of breaking wall spaces with them.

The grouping of windows is not only more decorative and more convenient, but also you will find that almost without exception it will give more light.

Have you ever been spell-bound by the beauty of the moonlight or the sunlight drifting through your open windows or glass doors? Carefully made plans for the homes of the wealthy take into consideration the casting of day-light and moonlight shadows on floors and walls, but, even though the builders of our humble homes cannot do this, we can, while neglecting the shadow, give ample consideration to the light.

Should Face South

In Southern California the rooms most lived in should face the south. In the summer time the sun is so far overhead that it does not enter the south-facing rooms, while in the winter time the sun is so low in the southern sky that our living rooms are flooded gloriously with light and warmth. If your breakfast room is also the dining room, it should face the east. The facing of a dining room that is not used for a breakfast room is much less material. That you have the east sun in the room where you eat breakfast is more than important. Did you ever stop to consider how the morale of your family is affected by the light exposure of their home?

Since we have in mind the founding of a home marked by simplicity, all the lines of the house outside and in as well as those of the furniture should be of the straight line and simple curve type. Short, nervous straight lines or wiggly curved lines may easily become a nightmare. Fortunately the short silly lines are more expensive than their longer, more restful relatives. Let us indulge in them. Architects sometimes indulge themselves in cutting up simple plain walls with panels formed of molding. How in the world do they think we are going to make our pictures fit their foolish panels. And how much better is a simple mantle than one fixed up with little pigeon hole shelves. And why spoil room doors and closet doors with decorated panels, or with any panels at all. A plain door is very beautiful.

Wall Papers, Carpets

The same principle holds in the lines of wall papers and carpets. The figure spacing of both should have no obtrusive lines unless it is in stripes on the wall paper. Yet striped wall paper seldom has a good effect except in bedrooms. Even there they should not be very pronounced. If they are too marked the pictures are at a great disadvantage and also we become very tired of their staring at us. In draperies some short-line effects are very good, but there should be enough long lines to balance them. The most poorly framed pictures are those of many curvy lines. Most of us seem positively afraid of straight-line effects. Fussiness has become second nature to us. One of the greatest destroyers of good lines is the presence of numerous small and insignificant ornaments placed on every available table. You and your family will enjoy the orderly effect this will give your rooms.

But in striving for simplicity of line, do not swing too far in the other direction. Do not carry it so far that your home has a look of severity. There must be variety of line. This may be accomplished in many ways. Window and door spacing has already been discussed.

Window, Door Spacing

But it may also be reached by the use of small or large window panes, according to the character of the variety needed; by picture molding placed close to or far from the ceiling; largely by the size of the rugs; and by the placing of the furniture. For instance, ninety-nine times out of a hundred the placing of a table in the center of a living room will spoil the entire line effect of the room. As a general rule the largest pieces of furniture should be at the greatest distance from the center of the room. Generally they should be placed against the wall. Do not break the lines of a room by placing furniture diagonally across the corners. If the architect did his work well you are spoiling some of his best achievements. Even a round table is better placed against a straight stretch of wall than in a right-angled corner. It is bad for the table and the corner both. Give each a chance to put its best foot forward, or, at least, give the table this chance. If your dining table has four good legs let it support itself. Place the chairs against the wall.

Mixing Periods

Furniture of different periods may be placed in the same room, providing they are closely enough related to have many points in common. But it is safer to avoid the mixing of periods, lest confusion result.

German Bootblack in 'Indian Prince' Role

BERLIN—August Barkus, a former shoeblick, of the Leipzig railway station, who had quitted his "ungentlemanlike" job to become a film actor, juggler and clairvoyant, was arrested on the charge of having cheated several rich women of the city of Halle out of precious jewelry and some 250,000 marks in cash, posing as the "Prince of India."

"His Royal Highness" promised marriage in two or three cases, telling the duped girls that he would elope with them to his "magnificent Indian castle."

Kitchen Made Better by Use Plate Glass

There is no doubt, of course, that plate glass, because of its beauty and texture, makes a beautiful kitchen furnishing.

As a pastry top for a table, it is without a peer. If you are doing your own work, the plate glass top is idyllic, but the cook often misuses a table top and so the material ought to be chosen primarily for durability and cleanliness. Plate glass is not a top liner for durability in a kitchen. Yet it is durable, if care is given it. Shelves of plate glass are a delight and can be well employed in kitchens and pantries.

As a protective measure for furniture covering plate glass may seem expensive at first, but in the last analysis it is home insurance with ample premiums in preserved furniture and savings in laundry. It lessens eye strain, nerve wear; it adds beauty within the home and outside the home. It is an essential as well as a trimming—in short, it pays a beautiful interest on the investment—a three-fold one: Beauty, protectiveness and health.

It is very simple to keep the glassed top of anything clean. A damp cloth is all that is required. No varnishes, oils or waxes are needed; a few rubs, and all is well. This appeals to the servants, and also saves your furniture from unexpected scraping and scratching.

A wife who knows not how to please her husband, makes him commit no end of blunders.

Remember

Thirty years ago Los Angeles was a little "Jay" town. Spring, Main and Broadway were dirt streets with board sidewalks. Seventh and Main streets was out in the suburbs. Bullock's corner was offered at $5000.

Hollywood was a mere village, Pasadena hardly more, Glendale but a few scattered homes.

These same changes are taking place to-day, only much more rapidly.

—Read the newspapers. See how LOS ANGELES IS GROWING by leaps and bounds. It will be one of the two largest cities in the world and eventually "the Industrial Center of America."

—If you can visualize NOW its future congestion and confusion, you will realize how priceless choice hillside residence property, like that in SPARR HEIGHTS, will ultimately become.

—Remember, that all the bungalow lots we will have to offer are in this first unit that we are now offering, and they will soon be gone. Your chance to get one is NOW.

—Bear in mind that here in time will be another city as large as Pasadena. Think what the value of these business lots will be then. Three years ago Western Avenue frontage was bought at $65.00; the same property recently sold at $1000.00. You will see exactly the same thing happen in SPARR HEIGHTS right in front of your eyes.
